Mass Troops At Hankow

Million Chinese Reported Ready to Defend Provisional Capital

OUTER DEFENCES ARE CHALLENGED

By LLOYD LEHRAS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

SHANGHAI — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was reported today to have massed 1,000,000 Chinese troops around Hankow, his provisional capital toward which the Japanese have advanced slowly since occupying Kiukiang July 26.

The outer fringes of these defenses were challenged today by Japanese units making exploratory drives up the Yangtze River.

Because the defenders expect the most serious Japanese threat to be along the Yangtze's south bank overland against the Canton-Hankow Railway line, 10 divisions placed between the Nanchang railway and the Canton railway were reinforced by Cantonese troops.

Besides these large-scale preparations, a mobile army of 120,000 Chinese is moving into the south bank sector.

See-saw battles raged on both banks on the Yangtze in the Kiukiang area without major changes in positions as the war entered its 40th day.

Cholera raged through Kiukiang and Japanese military authorities said nearly all the 10,000 Chinese who remained in that Yangtze port after its occupation were "likely victims" of the dread disease.

A Japanese air raid on Yangsin, 35 miles west of Kiukiang and in the Japanese path to the Canton-Hankow line, was said to have caused 500 deaths and injuries to 800, many of whom were patients in a Chinese military hospital.

AIR RAIDERS BUSY

HANKOW, China (AP)—An estimated 100 persons were killed and 2,000 injured today in the closely built-up areas of Hankow and Wuchang by Japanese air raiders roaring over Hankow's sister cities.

Authorities said almost 200 bombs were dropped on the two industrial centers.

Casualties would have been greater, officials declared, if the government had not been successful in persuading many civilians to evacuate the cities and particularly areas which most often attract raids.

HIBERNIANS IN POLICE CLASH

PORTGLENONE, County Antrim, Northern Ireland (AP)—A fight between police and members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians resulted today in many injuries and nine arrests.

When 150 Hibernians attempted to force their way into a section of town roped off by police, the latter charged and clubbed the demonstrators amid wild scenes.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians, founded in 1641 according to some authorities, is devoted to furthering Irish nationality and charitable works.

VICTORIA, 5 a.m. today—A shallow depression, passing eastward over northern British Columbia, has caused rain on the north coast, but the weather has been generally fair and moderately warm throughout southern districts. It remains cool, unsettled and showery in the interior.

SOVIET LOSSES SAID TO BE 4,500

TOKIO (AP)—Domet (Japanese News Agency) published a Korean army communiqué from Seoul, Korea, today that Soviet Russian losses in Japanese-Russian fighting for Changkufeng Hill on the Siberian-Korean border between July 11 and August 11 totaled 4,500 killed and wounded.

The statement said the Japanese destroyed 16 Soviet infantry guns, disabled or destroyed 69 tanks, shot down three airplanes and captured large quantities of small arms.

Earth Shocks Are Recorded

Severe Quake Believed Centred in Burma; Felt in Canada

BOMBAY, India (AP)—A severe earthquake, believed to have centred in Upper Burma, was registered today by seismographs at Bombay, Alipore and Dehra Dun.

OTTAWA (CP)—Dominion observatory scientists said today their seismograph recorded a moderately severe earthquake last night at 7.56 P.M.T., the shocks continuing two and a half hours.

The quake did not register clearly enough to indicate distance or direction.

NEW YORK (AP)—Violent earth shocks, with their epicentre about 9,800 miles from New York, were recorded last night on the Fordham University seismograph.

Rev. J. J. Lynch, observatory director, said it would be impossible to establish the direction of the quake area until other stations reported, but "the quakes might be very serious if they occurred on land."

Recordings were at 12.46.32 a.m., 12.47.35 a.m., 12.55 a.m., 12 a.m. and 11.03 a.m. (E.D.T.).

Victoria, once an important link in the chain of observatories that record earthquakes, now is unable to provide that scientific information. The instruments are still at the Gonzales Observatories but are not operating. It was reported several months ago that one of the seismographs would be transferred to Vancouver and the other installed in the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain.

When inquiries were made by the Times today as to whether any records were made of the disturbance reported from New York, it was stated that the seismographs were not in service.

Jew Hanged In Palestine

Mordecai Schwartz Was Convicted of Murder; Terrorists Kill Officer

JERUSALEM (AP)—The second Jew to be hanged since Great Britain took over government of Palestine under League of Nations mandate died in Acre prison today.

Mordecai Schwartz, 25-year-old police constable, pleaded that Palestine Jewry should not make him a martyr as they did Solomon Ben Joseph, whose hanging June 29 precipitated the most severe Jewish-Arab violence in recent history.

Schwartz, a Czechoslovak Jew, was convicted of murdering an Arab policeman with whom he guarded the summer camp of the British High Commissioner last September.

"I am ready to die for an act for which I alone am responsible," Schwartz declared.

Ben Joseph, 19, was convicted of firing upon an Arab bus April 21. Fellow revisionists started demonstrations that led to terrorist acts resulting in more than 200 deaths.

Arab terrorists today blew up a military truck near Acre, killing a British officer and wounding two privates. The incident brought total deaths during the past 24 hours to 19.

NEWSMEN TO SEE DICTATORS
Say Japan Always Prepared For War With Russia, Not China

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Fourteen newspapermen from Japan, were in Vancouver today enroute to Germany and Italy, where they hoped to obtain interviews with Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

The men arrived aboard the Japanese motorship Hiye Maru. Heading the group was T. Azuma, member of the Japanese parliament and honorary member of the Nippon Press Association.

They will travel to New York through the United States.

S. Kodama, chief secretary of the press association, was asked by interviewers whether he had "anything to say about the war" between Japan and China.

"The Chinese war is a development not sought by the Japanese," he said. "It was unexpected."

"Japan never prepared for a war with China, but always prepared for one with Russia."

"China, led by her warlords, advised by foreigners, has carried on an anti-Japanese campaign for 15 or 20 years. No such thing has ever been done by Japan."

Four Local Golfers Win

Hart, Schwengers, Mackay and McMillan Advance in Seniors Grand Championship; Fleeger Advances Easily

Continuing the sterling golf which won him medal honors yesterday, H. A. "Dixie" Fleeger, Seattle, advanced through the first round of match play in the grand championship of the Seniors Northwest Golf Association, defeating G. R. Cartier, Tacoma, 5 and 4. Fleeger was out in 36 and back in 37 for a fine 73, just three strokes over par.

At the conclusion of the first round Victoria still had four players in the running for the title. They were Hon. John Hart, a two-time holder of the crown; Bernie Schwengers, defending titleholder; Wallace McMillan and T. O. Mackay.

Hart this morning eliminated H. G. Garrett, last year's runner-up at Oak Bay, 3 and 2; Schwengers defeated R. L. Cliff, Vancouver, 1 up; McMillan accounted for J. W. Pattison, Vancouver, at the 18th, and Mackay was victor over M. Freeman, Seattle, 3 and 1.

Jack Bailing, Seattle, rated one of the dangerous threats, won his match from O. B. Wight, Portland, 1 up.

Results of remaining matches were:

R. S. Farrell, Portland, defeated G. H. Raleigh, Tacoma, 4 and 3. E. S. Skeel, Seattle, defeated O. F. Lamson, Seattle, 2 and 1.

Other results this morning follow:

Cut Expected In Assessment

City Rolls Returned, But Actual Figures for 1939 Tax Basis Not Yet Ready

City assessment rolls for 1939 were returned by G. A. Okell, city assessor-collector, today, but the actual alterations in the amounts on which Victoria levies its taxes will not be definitely stated until the middle of October.

Between the present and the latter date the assessor's staff will be engaged computing changes in assessment made in the rolls and determining the extent to which they affect the net taxable amount.

Although a healthy construction trend during the last year or two should assist in increasing the amount on which the levy may be based, the general reduction which has been shown in recent years is again expected to be noted for 1939.

Obsolescence and deterioration of existing structures accounts for the gradual decline in the assessment over a period of years.

It was believed in certain circles a reduction considerably greater than that allowed last year could be expected by the majority of homeowners who have been on the tax list for the last few years, since the allowance for falling values occasioned by the increasing age of structures is emphasized every two years.

For the purposes of this year's taxation, the net taxable assessment was set at $48,133,932, which included a valuation of $18,529,907 on land and $29,604,025 on improvements. The taxes are collected on 100 per cent of the value of land and 65 per cent of improvements.

Two Accused Out on Bail

Men Charged With Manslaughter in Vibert Case

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Two men accused of manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter Cyril Vibert, 25-year-old former Victoria bank employee, were free on bail today.

The men, Archie Andrews, 25, unemployed, and Thomas White, 34, an electrician, were named as participants in a hotel room fight in which Vibert was fatally injured early Saturday.

Miss Rose Fields, 24, of Weaverville, Cal., a typist for F.H.A. and Vibert's fiancée, named three men as having participated in the fight.

The three were swiftly apprehended, and when their stories were sifted, two of them—White and Andrews—were booked on manslaughter charges.

The third, Thomas Smith, 38, a bookkeeper, was quoted by Inspector George Engler as saying the battle started over a bottle of liquor which Vibert accused Andrews of stealing. Smith was not held.

AIR COMMODORE

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Air Commodore C. W. H. Pulford's appointment as head of the section of the Air Ministry recently created to co-ordinate expansion of the Royal Air Force's volunteer reserve was officially announced last night. Twenty-seven airports are now used for the training of R.A.F. reserve pilots.

Prince Rupert Defences Next

Hon. Ian Mackenzie Says Vancouver Island Projects Advanced

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, today announced plans to start work on "equipping of the vicinity of Prince Rupert" with defence batteries.

The minister, back in Vancouver after a brief tour of military projects on Vancouver Island and other coast districts, said work was "virtually completed" in some Vancouver Island districts, and that the department would now concentrate on Prince Rupert district and the interior of the province.

Mr. Mackenzie will leave for Ottawa after attending the provincial Liberal convention in Kelowna next week.

SEOU, Korea (AP)—Forty-five miners in the Kaigondo coal mine, Northern Korea, were killed today when floods caused the mine to collapse. Ten were killed elsewhere in the collapse of six rain-demolished houses.

WAR COUNCIL MEETS IN PRAHA

PRAHA (CP-Havas)—Czechoslovakia's supreme war council met at Kolowrat Palace today with Premier Milan Hodza presiding.

Government spokesmen declared the conference had no bearing on the international situation. They said the meeting was convoked 10 days ago, or more than a week before Germany's military manoeuvres. Economic and financial problems discussed at the previous meeting of the council last April were the principal subjects of the agenda, it was said.

The council is composed of members of the army technical corps, the inspector-general, the army chief of staff and certain government ministers.

King and Queen May Pay Visit

Their Majesties Expected to Come to Canada in 1939

LIVERPOOL (CP Cable)—The Liverpool Post in its London letter today said the King and Queen will "almost certainly" visit Canada and the United States during 1939, although no plans have yet been discussed and no invitations issued.

It was understood, the column said, that Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, mentioned unofficially the possibility of a visit though an invitation from Canada would come through the Prime Minister.

The column added that Lord Stanley, Dominion Secretary who sailed for Canada today from Southampton, might discuss tentative arrangements with Mr. Mackenzie King.

Mr. Mackenzie King recently stated that the King needed no invitation to visit the Dominion. Canada always stood ready to welcome its Sovereign.

Quebec Cardinal Received By Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (CP)—Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, today reported to the Pope on the Canadian National Eucharistic Congress held this summer in Quebec. The cardinal was received in audience for one and a half hours.

Jobless Coming to Coast

Union Secretary Says There is No Work in Interior of B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five hundred Vancouver jobless who have been searching for relief work in interior British Columbia are on their way to Vancouver, according to word received by John Matts, secretary of the Relief Project Workers' Union here.

"The men have proven to Hon. G. S. Pearson that there's no work for them in the interior," Matts, who said he received the information from Robert Hendricks, union organizer in Kelowna, declared.

"They were told there was plenty of work in the interior. We had to send the men there to prove to Mr. Pearson there wasn't."

"It's easy to see by the reaction in the press of interior towns that their influx only aggravated the unemployment problem which those districts already have on their hands," Matts said.

CAN GET RELIEF

Relief will be granted in Vancouver to single homeless men, now trekking back there from the interior, if they can prove to relief authorities that they have been honestly seeking work and are bona fide destitute cases, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said today.

The relief project workers' union headquarters in Vancouver reported that 500 men were on their way to Vancouver following the government's announcement that no further relief would be given them upcountry. Relief officials here said that this many had not been given relief in the interior.

Mr. Pearson said each man would have to state his case to the relief authorities who would decide if he were entitled to assistance.

LIBERAL CONVENTION
VANCOUVER (CP)—John Matts, secretary of the Relief Project Workers' Union, said yesterday he had written to Dr. W. J. Knox, president of the British Columbia Liberal Association, for permission to send a delegation to a party convention at Kelowna next week.

The secretary of the unemployed union, 100 of whose members were in Kelowna yesterday, made the statement when questioned regarding rumors that the men would stage a "sit-down strike" during the convention.

"It will be a strong delegation," he added. Permission for an unemployed delegation to attend the convention has not been received as yet, he said.

The 100 unemployed now in Kelowna went there earlier in the month seeking work.

Ten British Generals Placed on Retired List at Age Limit

Younger Men Are Promoted

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP-Cable)—The biggest shake-up since the Great War among senior officers of the British army was announced tonight in the War Office Gazette. Placed on the retired list because of age were three generals, four lieutenant-generals and six major-generals.

The reorganization, it was authoritatively stated, has nothing to do with the troubled affairs of Europe nor with any foreign army manoeuvres, but is part of the plans of Rt. Hon. Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary for War, to hasten the promotion of young men with fresh ideas and to inject new blood in the top positions of Britain's reorganized and expanded army.

Resulting from the announcement by Mr. Hore-Belisha in the House of Commons, July 28, of a lower retirement age for all ranks above that of major, the following army veterans were placed on the retired list:

Generals Sir George Jeffreys, Sir Harry Knox and Sir Hughes Elles; Lieut.-Generals Sir Harry Karslake, Sir Arthur McNamara, Sir Geoffrey Howard and Sir Bertie Fisher; Major Generals E. O. Lewin, R. J. Collins, P. R. C. Cummings, A. L. Ransome, H. A. Lewis and G. T. Raikes.

Two Lieut. Generals, Sir Walter Pitt-Taylor and Sir Reginald Hildyard, were promoted to the full rank of general.

The promotion of Sir Hugh Elles from Lieut.-General to full general, and his retirement, were made concurrently.

All 13 retiring general officers benefit from the new retirement terms announced July 28, under which retiring age for generals and lieutenant-generals was reduced from 67 to 60; major-generals from 62 to 57; and similar reductions made in ages of colonels and lieutenant-colonels.

Sir Walter Pitt-Taylor, now raised to the rank of full general, has been general officer commanding-in-chief of the western command, India, since 1936. He is 60. Sir Reginald Hildyard, also promoted to general, has been Governor and Commander-in-Chief, Bermuda, since 1936. He is 62.

Search for Dodge's Body

Dead Millionaire Wanted to Hear Dynamite Explode

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP)—The torn body of 21-year-old Daniel Dodge, victim of a desire to hear dynamite explode, was sought today in 90 feet of water in Georgian Bay while his bride of 13 days remained in hospital. Thus the story-book romance of a millionaire's love for a telephone operator ended in tragedy.

Dodge, heir to the motor-car millions, yesterday yielded to an oft-expressed desire to learn if dynamite left by workmen at his Kagawong summer camp eight years ago still was in good condition. He selected a stick of the explosive and lit a one-inch fuse that should have burned for three minutes. But the flame reached the dynamite in less than 10 seconds.

Dodge was thrown to the floor of the camp garage by the force of the explosion and injured terribly. Mrs. Dodge, the former Ann Laurin MacDonald, was cut on the face, legs and arms. Two camp helpers were hurt, Lloyd Bryant so seriously it was feared he would die.

Young Dodge was drowned in the inside channel of the big bay, seven miles west of this little town.

While serving as a bomber at Vimy Ridge in November, 1916, he won the D.C.M. and bar for meritorious service and later entered hospital suffering from a shattered shoulder, from which he never entirely recovered. Two Are Held For Kidnapping

O. Meredith and John Couch, Ex-convicts, Taken in Minnesota

ST. PAUL (AP)—Two ex-convicts were captured last night in Minnesota's north woods country for the kidnapping of a St. Louis couple and a few hours later District Attorney Victor Anderson filed complaints charging them with kidnapping under the so-called Lindbergh Law.

One of them was seriously wounded when he attempted to evade arrest. District Attorney Anderson said in all probability he would demand the death penalty for Otis James Meredith and John Couch. Officers said they apparently kidnapped Miss Peggy Gross and Daniel Cox Fahey Jr., in St. Louis early Saturday for the use of their car to flee the St. Louis area, where they were "hot."

The victims were found near Champlin, Minn., Saturday night, bound with wire and gagged. Meredith was seriously wounded as he attempted to flee when sheriffs and federal men surprised him and Couch at the home of Meredith's father-in-law, 45 miles north of Grand Rapids. He was taken to a Grand Rapids jail under guard.

District Attorney Anderson said he would demand $100,000 bail for each prisoner.

B.C.'s Plan To Sweep Alberta

Physical Education Takes Hold in Neighboring Province

EDMONTON (CP)—British Columbia's plan of free public physical education for youth appears destined to "sweep all Alberta," it was predicted here yesterday by Mrs. George Hogg, founder and president of the Edmonton Health and Strength League.

Along with two other Edmonton women and two from Calgary, Mrs. Hogg last week completed a special six-week training course at Vancouver under direction of Mrs. Hilda Keatley, British Columbia's chief instructor in the physical training branch. Mrs. Keatley and three other coast leaders now are training a class of 50 Alberta "P.T." teachers here.

"Parachute Army," If Russia Fights

WASHINGTON—A full-fledged war between Japan and Soviet Russia might see a new type of expeditionary force that has been threatening for years to upset military strategy—a "parachute army."

A nation numbering parachute jumpers by the million and parachute jumping as one of its favorite sports, the Soviet government may some day make use of trained jumpers to land small expeditionary forces behind enemy lines from large transport planes. War with Japan might mean Russian troops landed in Japan by such means.

Such forces, armed with light machine guns and even heavier weapons, are believed by military experts capable of creating havoc behind an enemy's lines. They could blow up bridges, cut railroads, destroy communications and in other ways make their presence extremely unwelcome to a region bending every effort to produce war materials.

Whether the members of such an expedition would return alive is another matter.

Russian parachute jumping from military planes has deeply impressed foreign observers permitted at recent war games in Soviet territory. Planes capable of transporting large numbers of troops are part of the Russian air force; some of them are believed based in the Far East.

SEARCH FOR DODGE'S BODY

fishing port and not many miles from Gore Bay, where three years ago he met the daughter of a tugboat captain, who became his wife August 2. The survivors said Dodge, seemingly crazed by pain, leaped or fell overboard from a speedboat bearing him to hospital.

The 20-year-old bride, despite her injuries, drove the 28-foot launch across part of the 20 miles of choppy water between Kaga-wong and Little Current. With her were Bryant, injured internally; Frank Valiquette, the second camp worker, and Bryant's wife, who was working in the kitchen of the Dodge cottage at the time of the explosion.

When the craft docked here Mrs. Dodge and Bryant were taken by automobile to Minde-moya Red Cross hospital, nearly 30 miles distant in the interior of Manitoulin Island. The 21-year-old Valiquette, his body a mass of powder burns, cuts and bruises, directed fisherman to the location of the spot where Dodge went down.

Bryant and Mrs. Dodge, injured about the arms and legs, were operated upon late last night. Attending surgeons praised the young bride's courage. "She never whimpered or complained while I worked on her," said Dr. G. R. Young, Mrs. Dodge will recover.

VALIQUETTE LIT FUSE
LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP)—A 21-year-old camp worker, Frank Valiquette, lit the dynamite fuse which led to the death yesterday of Daniel George Dodge, 21-year-old Detroit millionaire and bridegroom of only 13 days. Valiquette told his story today to his physician, Dr. R. B. McQuay.

The injuries to Dodge, his bride, formerly Ann Laurine Macdonald, Lloyd Bryant and Valiquette were caused, not by the dynamite stick which it was intended to explode, but by sticks of dynamite lying on the window of the Dodge garage, the camp worker said.

WIFE NOT TO SHARE
DETROIT (AP)—Daniel G. Dodge, drowned yesterday near Little Current, Ont., left a will naming his bride, the former Miss Ann Laurine Macdonald as a beneficiary, but a spokesman for the Detroit Trust Company said today the young widow would not share in the millions left to her husband by his father.

Charles P. Spicer, executive vice-president of the trust company, explained that Daniel Dodge was given a life income from a $9,331,600 trust fund established after the death of his father, John F. Dodge, motor magnate.

"The John F. Dodge will does not provide for the wife of Daniel and the life income from trust fund established for Daniel is not transferable to his wife," Spicer said. "The income terminates at Daniel Dodge's death."

"There is an amount of accumulated income from the trust which is unused. It belonged to Daniel Dodge and Mrs. Dodge will receive her share of this and of any other property owned outright and left by her husband."

No estimate was available of that unexpended income which composes the greater part of Daniel Dodge's estate.

Claims Crime Is "Necessity"

World Would Revert to Savagery If Laws Obeyed, Says Psychologist

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A prominent psychologist asserted today if there were no law-breakers and all laws were obeyed the world would revert to savagery.

In the law-breaking class he put the Christian martyrs and George Washington, first President of the United States, who "was guilty of treason against the British."

The psychologist—Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles—championed the "necessity" of crime in an article for the forthcoming (September) issue of the California Monthly, publication of the University of California Alumni.

Universal and unquestioned submission to all laws, he said, "inevitably entails reversion to savagery."

Dr. Dunlap suggested the division between law and morality represented the difference between "crimes" eventually beneficial to society and real offences against the public welfare.

He cited the fact that it was not a crime to commit an immoral act against which there was no law. On the same basis an individual might reason it was not wrong to break a law if in doing so he considered his conduct moral, or at least not immoral.

Cross Border In Disguise

"S.A." Men Reported Sent to Sudetenland as Civilians

LONDON (CP-Havas)—The diplomatic correspondent of the Manchester Guardian (Liberal) reported yesterday that "S.A. men (Storm Troopers) have been dispatched from the Reich into Sudetenland (Czechoslovakia) disguised as civilians."

The correspondent continued: "Their presence can hardly have any other purpose than to initiate, and perhaps organize and control, direct action against the Czech authorities in the event of an open conflict, or perhaps in preparation for such a conflict."

"A Sudeten German legion, closely resembling the former Austrian legion, has been in existence for some time. 'Its full title is 'Sudetendeutsche Legionäre Vereinigung.' It is made up of Sudeten Germans who have deserted from the Czechoslovak army and who, for various other reasons, have taken up residence in Germany."

"The purpose of the legion is analogous to that of its former Austrian counterpart, namely to co-operate with the regular troops in invasion of neighboring territory and in helping to control that territory when the invasion has been accomplished."

Forsythe Brothers Meet in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two brothers met here today for the first time in 49 years. The reunion was effected when 68-year-old Hugh Forsythe of St. Louis, Mo., arrived here to visit his "big brother," 84-year-old John Forsythe of North Vancouver. Their last meeting was in St. Louis in 1889, when John visited Hugh. Both brothers were born in County Antrim, near Belfast, Ireland.

Benefits From Trade Treaty

British Comment on Pact Being Negotiated With United States

LONDON (CP-Havas)—The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) and the Financial Times, in editorials today, spoke of the benefits they expect will result from the trade treaty between the United Kingdom and the United States, now being negotiated.

"The United States are engaged in an effort to enlarge government expenditure to revive their internal prosperity," the Daily Telegraph said. "If the effort is successful it will prove a tonic to business throughout the world."

"Substantial improvement in the United States would correct that overvaluation of sterling which is cramping British commerce. Intensified production of gold brought about by the present high price of metal will encourage the rise in commodity prices, thus increasing the purchasing power of countries engaged in primary production. Given freedom from international disturbance all omens indicate a speedy end to the recession and a beginning of an upward movement in the trade barometer."

The Financial Times said: "It seems that from the economic angle the British Commonwealth is more important to the United States than vice versa. In the last resort the only important commodities for which we are virtually depending on America are raw cotton of a certain type and raw tobacco of a certain type."

"But the matter does not turn solely upon economic considerations, which have to be viewed and reviewed from a variety of social and political angles."

"In these latter respects the destinies of the American and of the British peoples the world over are closely interwoven. It is because mutual trade expansion begets mutual prosperity—bringing in its train closer social and political as well as economic bonds—that we so earnestly hope for a satisfactory outcome from the Anglo-American trade pact negotiations."

No Italian Reply On Aid in Spain

British Reminder of Nonintervention Agreement Unanswered

LONDON (CP Cable)—The Italian government has made no reply to Great Britain's action in calling Italy's attention to "certain allegations" that she has sent more troops to aid insurgent General Franco in Spain, in defiance of the Anglo-Italian understanding and the nonintervention agreement.

It is stated here, however, it is not unusual for a country to make no reply to representations of this sort.

Use of the Balearic Islands, in the western Mediterranean off the Spanish coast, as a base for Italian planes operating in Spain is understood to be one of the allegations repeated to Rome.

The Times, independent, stated Monday that danger of intensification of the Spanish war "comes primarily from the activities of Italian aircraft which operate freely from the Balearic Islands and which can, of course, fly unmolested between those islands and Italy."

SPECULATION ON INDIA PROBLEM

By E. B. BROOK
Canadian Press Correspondent

NEW DELHI (CP)—The visit to England of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian Nationalist Congress leader, and the present holiday of Viceroy the Marquess of Linlithgow, have concentrated attention on the problem of federalization—implementation of India's new constitution.

Those close to the situation here maintain too much significance was attached to Lord Linlithgow's return to England. They recalled it was customary for a viceroy to have that much leave during his term of office. They also pointed to the fact the Viceroy is not robust and maintained he obviously needed a holiday before he left.

Nevertheless, the same observers conceded Lord Linlithgow, with a strong penchant for hard work, probably would spend a considerable part of his holiday at the India office.

It is generally conceded the British and Indian governments are anxious to reach a settlement with the Indian states as soon as possible, giving full effect to the Government of India Act of 1935, so far only half implemented.

Lawyers Meet In Convention

23rd Meeting of Canadian Bar Association Opens Tomorrow

VANCOUVER (CP)—Leading figures of the legal profession in Canada, Great Britain and the United States were gathering here today for the 23rd annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association opening tomorrow.

For three days, in morning, afternoon and evening sessions members will discuss all phases of their profession, hear reports of officers and committees, listen to addresses by high-ranking authorities on various subjects and engage in other activities.

Prominent members of the British and American Bars attending the meeting will include Viscount Finlay of Nairn, for 14 years a judge of the English High Court of Justice, King's Bench Division, and Arthur T. Vanderbilt, outstanding Newark, N.J., lawyer and 1937 president of the American Bar Association.

Both will address the convention. Many members were busy today with a conference of governing bodies of the legal profession in Canada and a meeting of the association's council.

The convention proper gets under way tomorrow morning with Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber of British Columbia and Hon. G. S. Wismer, Attorney-General of the province, delivering addresses of welcome.

Routine reports of permanent committees will take up much of the time of Wednesday's session after Senator J. W. deB. Farris of Vancouver delivers his presidential address.

Scheduled to be presented during the day are reports of the council; by the committee on noteworthy changes in statute law; by the conference of the governing bodies of the legal profession in Canada; of the Canadian Bar review and of the conference of commissioners on uniformity of legislation in Canada.

On Friday evening the members will sail for Victoria, where they will spend a day of sight-seeing and social activity, climaxed by a Government House reception.

W. M. WALKER IN KIWANIS OFFICE

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—J. N. Emerson of Pullman, Wash., today was elected governor of the Pacific Northwest District of Kiwanis International at the 21st annual district convention here.

He succeeded Griff I. Griffith of Olympia, Wash., and was chosen by delegates from British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and the Idaho Panhandle.

The divisional lieutenant-governors selected included Walter M. Walker, Victoria, B.C.

The elections were held during the third day of convention sessions. One discussion was led today by Jack G. McFarlane of Victoria. Awards were to be presented during the day and committee reports were to be heard.

Victoria was selected as the site of the 1939 district convention.

New Set-up For "Quints"

French Education, New Home and Restored Family Planned

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets will start school September 1, as soon as they recover from their current throat ailment, and their studies will be along lines drafted by Dr. Duncan McArthur, Ontario Deputy Minister of Education, and approved by their father, Oliva Dionne.

Education plans were approved at a meeting yesterday of the guardians.

Miss Gaetane Vezina of Ottawa, who will teach the quintuplets, will assume her duties September 1.

Whether the children will be taught English or not was not announced. But earlier Mr. Dionne and Mr. Clouthier urged the five be taught only French at first, and as they concurred with Dr. McArthur's plans, it was believed all instructions will be in French.

A prepared statement after the meeting reported the guardians and government officials in agreement that the present Calender home of the quintuplets was inadequate and that guardians were satisfied headway has been made in a permanent solution of the problem of bringing the family together again.

CONCERN OVER GERMANY ABATES

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Great Britain's concern over Germany's military manoeuvres appeared to be abating today, with only three newspapers devoting leading articles to the central European situation. This was in sharp contrast to the press during the week-end when most papers carried comment on dangers that might possibly arise from the war games.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, Independent, renewed its plea for a government policy of "splendid isolation" and declared: "There could be no European war this year or next."

Viscount Rothermere's Daily Mail, Independent, stressed that although Britain must remain on the alert, there was no reason for undue alarm over the German war games.

"British vigilance must go hand in hand with swift rearmament. Every increase in armed strength by this peace-loving country adds a further degree to the stabilization of Europe," said the Mail.

The Daily Herald, Labor, expressed sharp disagreement with isolationist arguments and said that while such a policy was impractical for small states it was impractical for Britain.

"Our isolationists think the example of small nations like Switzerland, Estonia, Norway, Finland and Denmark is a fitting one for us to follow," the Labor organ declared. "Now these small powers are small powers with no world-wide empire to excite envy. When our isolationists frame an Imperial policy they do so as if there were no foreign countries and when they frame a European policy they do so as if there were no British Empire."

PROPOSALS SOON ON IMMIGRATION

Sir Henry Page Croft, Now in North B.C., to Submit Plan to Ottawa

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—J. G. Turgeon, Liberal member of Parliament for Cariboo, announced today Sir Henry Page Croft, British parliamentarian investigating possibility of settling British families in Canada, would submit proposals "immediately" to Prime Minister King and Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of the Interior.

After an all-day automobile tour through what Mayor Patterson of Prince George terms the largest undeveloped and unoccupied area of farm lands remaining in North America, Mr. Turgeon said Sir Henry was ready to communicate his plans for settling the district to the Canadian government.

The proposals would be accompanied by a suggestion the Dominion Government consult the Imperial and provincial governments about them, Mr. Turgeon said.

Sir Henry's immediate proposals would concern an area of approximately 1,000,000 acres of fertile lands now uncultivated and unsettled in northern British Columbia, between the junction of the Nechako and Fraser Rivers and Chief Lake.

Gen. M. L. Hornby of Lethbridge, Alta., who is accompanying Sir Henry on his Canadian tour, said that he and the British visitor would meet the Saskat-

Difference in Foreign Policies Will Cause Break, Professor Says

LAKE COUCHICHIING, Ont. (CP)—A New York professor of social research predicted yesterday to the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics that Great Britain and France will have to part because of a fundamental difference in their foreign policies.

Dr. Hans Simons of the New York School for Social Research, who recently concluded a tour of Europe, told the gathering of political and business leaders "France is concerned primarily with maintaining the status quo while England wants peace at almost any price and is not interested in political status quo on the 1919 basis."

The only positive concept discernible on the European scene, Dr. Simons said, was the "aggressive force of German expansion and the principle of German predominance."

"One weakness of the Czech state is the fact its policy is rooted in two peace-time concepts—the preservation of tradition and boundaries and the protection of minorities. Czechoslovakia, suffering from rigid adherence to these two incompatible concepts, is thus the last bulwark of the 1919 settlement."

Dr. Simons said the incorporation of Austria with Germany was meeting with "overwhelming support throughout both countries."

Poisons and Drugs Penetrate Skin

Copyright, 1938
 ZURICH, Switzerland—Human beings can be poisoned through their skin. They can also soak up beneficial drugs in the same way.

At the 16th International Physiological Congress here today, the scientists heard two of their colleagues, Dr. Emil Burgi of the Pharmacological Institute, Berne, Switzerland, and Dr. F. Flury of the Pharmacological Institute, Wurzburg, Germany, discuss the permeability of human and animal skins to various poisons and drugs.

Dr. Burgi's method of investigation is very neat and exact. He puts the substance to be used in a little hemisphere of glass, open on the flat side. This is sealed securely against the skin. After a suitable time lapse, the subject's breath and body secretions are analyzed for the presence of the chemical.

Alcohol, ether and chloroform, he found, penetrate the skin very easily, as also do all the aromatic oils. Some substances that will not penetrate the skin by themselves do so readily when dissolved in alcohol, acetone, or other solvents; in this class Dr. Burgi mentioned camphor, cocaine, and percalin.

Some of the drugs in his experiments he was willing to risk on human subjects, but tried them on animals. Thus, he found that folliculin, a powerful female sex gland extract, will go through the skin of a mouse. He also used mice to demonstrate skin permeability to mercury in ointments.

Dr. Flury confirmed the results of his Swiss colleague. The horny layer in the human skin is much overrated as a protection against foreign substances in solution, he stated. Poisons and drugs that might be stopped by that layer will find openings through it at the hair follicles, especially if mechanical factors or physiological stimuli are at work.

Permeability of the skin is therefore something for the physician to take into consideration, he suggested. On the one hand, the skin can admit poisons; on the other, it is possible to use it as a gate-of-entry for beneficial medicines.

Migratory Bird Seasons Set

Opening for Ducks and Geese in Vancouver Island Districts November 15

OTTAWA (CP)—Districts throughout Canada have been assigned varying dates this year for the shooting of migratory birds, in regulations issued yesterday by Hon. T. A. Cresser, Minister of Natural Resources. The number of birds that may be bagged are designated and certain other restrictions are continued.

In all districts the daily limit for wild ducks is 12, and for geese five; but the season's total is variable. In some places this is fixed at 100 ducks and 25 geese, and in others at 150 ducks and 20 geese.

Everywhere the prohibition on using bait and live decoys continues.

In general the regulations follow the principles adopted two years ago, which were made more restrictive than formerly in order to meet serious depletion of water fowl occasioned by the drought in western Canada as well as by over-shooting.

A summary of open-season dates and bags permissible in British Columbia follows:

Eastern district—Open season for ducks, geese, Wilson's snipe, September 15 to November 14, with these exceptions:

In the Peace River, Atlin, Omineca and Fort George districts indicated, open season for ducks, geese, coots and Wilson's snipe will be from September 1 to October 31.

In the portion south of the C.P.R. line from September 21 to November 20.

WESTERN B.C.—Open season for ducks, geese (except black brant and snow geese) coots and snipe will be from October 29 to January 2.

Exceptions to that are the provincial electoral district of The Islands, Victoria City, Esquimalt, Saanich, Cowichan-Newcastle, Alberni-Nanaimo and Comox, where the open season will be from November 15 to January 14.

In these sections open season for black brant and snow geese will be from December 17 to February 16. In the remainder of the western district of British Columbia open season for black brant and snow geese will be from December 1 to January 31.

The open season for band-tailed pigeons in the western district will be from September 10 to September 30.

Bag limits:
 Ducks 12 in any day, 125 in one season; geese (including black brant) five in any day, 50 (25 black brant and 25 geese other than black brant) in one season; coots 25 in any day, 150 in one season; Wilson's snipe 15 in any day, 100 in one season; band-tailed pigeons 10 in any day, 50 in one season.

The penalty for the violation of the migratory bird laws is a fine of not more than $300 and not less than $10, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Aberhart Flays Rowell Probe

Asserts Relations Commission Is "Piece of Political Futility"

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Aberhart asserted here yesterday the Rowell Commission had collapsed and he praised Premier Hepburn for announcing Ontario would take no part in further commission discussions.

The Alberta Premier issued a statement describing the commission appointed to study Dominion-provincial relations as a "national menace" and a "piece of political futility."

Mr. Aberhart voiced the first protest against the commission, expressing disapproval of the manner in which members were chosen; the terms of reference and its personnel.

The Alberta government refused to submit a brief to the commission, but hired several experts to prepare a report which provincial treasurer Solon Low said today would be sent to the printers during the next few days.

Mr. Aberhart said that the stand taken by the Ontario premier "has brought an end to a dangerous situation," and that "the people of all provinces will, I feel sure, realize that the demise of the Rowell Commission myth has precipitated a situation which must be faced and that this will call for very definite action without delay."

Premier Hepburn notified Prime Minister Mackenzie King that Ontario was withdrawing because of two amendments to the Income Tax Act, claiming it had been agreed no new taxes would be imposed by the federal government during commission sittings.

ABERHART'S STATEMENT
 Mr. Aberhart's statement said in part:

"I welcomed the timely announcement by Premier Hepburn on the attitude of his government toward the Rowell Commission. According to press reports he is supported by a similar stand being taken by Premier Duplessis."

"The attitude of the Alberta government is well known. It has not altered since our strong protest against the manner in which that commission was appointed, its terms of reference and its personnel. It has been our view consistently, that the commission would never yield any useful result. It was a piece of political futility on the part of the Ottawa government to humbug the country with such a time-wasting device to deal with the urgent problems confronting all provinces."

"The only results which, in our view, the commission could yield, were increased disunity and a further disruption of the bonds of Confederation."

"The very serious national situation has been allowed to drift for months in the futile hope that the Rowell commission was going to contribute to a solution of our problems. The country should be grateful to Premier Hepburn for taking the lead in bringing us back to a sense of reality."

"It is evident now that he can forget about the Rowell commission and proceed to get to grips with our national problems. I shall be surprised if the other provinces do not take a similar stand."

"Above everything, we need responsible action at this time."

"The attempts of the present Ottawa government to grapple with our national problems have been pathetic and futile. All it has achieved has been to give staunch support to the money power's in-

Border Thrills Writer

Correspondent, After 12 Years in Europe, Finds Lack of Formality on Canada-U.S. Line Amazing

Editor's Note—Andrue Berding, who wrote the following story, is a member of the Washington staff of the Associated Press. He returned to the United States last winter after spending 12 years in Europe, part of that time as chief of the Associated Press bureau in Rome.

By ANDRUE BERDING—Associated Press Staff Writer
 GANANQUE, Ont.—When Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt dedicate the new international bridge across the St. Lawrence River at the Thousand Islands on August 18, they will add another stone to one of the most amazing structures in history—the Canadian-United States border.

The writer has just traveled along hundreds of miles of this border while studying the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway project which long has been under consideration by the two countries.

After 12 years spent in Europe, it was an almost unbelievable experience. Gone were passport formalities, customs formalities, currency formalities, the usual half-hour wait beneath the prying eyes and fingers of guards and officials.

The writer had declared a portable typewriter, a candid camera and a pair of field glasses—all objects of suspicion in Europe. There was no trouble.

TRAVELS ALONG BORDER

In Canada he traveled along the border—something that had best not be done in Europe these days. But here there was nothing but courtesy. The language was the same, the people seem the same, signs were different—being in both English and French—automobiles were the same, money the same (since Canadian and United States currency had equal acceptance, the exchange being practically at par).

The writer paid for something with a $5 Canadian banknote and got in change two United States dollars, two Canadian dollars and mixed silver of both countries.

The writer had occasion to cross back into the United States twice to visit strategic points of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence project. On neither occasion was his name asked. Only the fact that he was born in Ohio, his wife in Tennessee and his daughter in Rome, Italy. Even this last birthplace seemed more symbolic than real.

PLANS FOR CEREMONY

IVY LEA, Ont. (CP)—Two 21-gun salutes, one fired by a Canadian battery at nearby Hill Island and the other by a United States battery at Madison Barracks, on adjoining Wells Island, will signal the start of the two-hour ceremony here Thursday when President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister King will open officially the new international bridge in this Thousand Islands area. The dedication program will continue from August 18 to August 21.

The United States President will motor here with Mr. King from Kingston, 30 miles west of here, where Mr. Roosevelt will have been accorded a 21-gun salute preliminary to receiving an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Queen's University.

More than 20,000 spectators are expected here and speeches will be broadcast over all Canadian and United States networks. The ceremony will start at 10 a.m. P.S.T.

Wickham Steed Charges Lord Rothermere With Encouraging Germany to Attack Czechoslovakia

By PAT USSHER
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 LONDON (CP)—A charge that Lord Rothermere is encouraging Germany to attack Czechoslovakia was one of the highlights of an exchange of correspondence made public yesterday between the newspaper-peer and Wickham Steed, former editor of The Times.

Mr. Steed fired the first shot in a letter dated July 18, asserting an article by Lord Rothermere in his Daily Mail of the same date was "based on misleading information and may help to bring on a European war into which Great Britain would be drawn willy-nilly."

Lord Rothermere, replying, called Czechoslovakia a "monstrosity of a country," and contended some of the Dominions would declare neutrality if Britain went to war over the central European issue.

The Rothermere article had warned if the Czech minorities' question was not settled to the complete satisfaction of Germany by the end of September, an astute observer of European affairs "will consider Czech independence to be worth three months' purchase."

Mr. Steed, in his letter, remarked: "Why should you wish to weaken the defence of this country by encouraging Germany to attack and if possible obliterate Czechoslovakia is a mystery to me."

Chancellor Hitler would require at least 1,000 airplanes and 3,000,000 men to crush Czechoslovakia quickly, Mr. Steed went on. Warning that German domination of central and south-eastern Europe was "an indispensable preliminary to a final German reckoning with the British Empire," Mr. Steed declared: "These airplanes and these men would be available against Great Britain and France were Czechoslovakia overthrown."

Mr. Steed charged Lord Rothermere's information about the Dominions was faulty. In a letter dated August 6 Mr. Steed said:

"These peoples would never approve of a British war 'in pursuit of some aim or design in central Europe.'"

"They would approve of, and support, resistance to an attack upon the defences of Great Britain and upon the essentials of British freedom. They would not in the last resort fear to fight for the principles upon which the British Commonwealth is based."

Lord Rothermere retorted on August 10:

"If you or anyone else are so foolish as to believe Great Britain and her Dominions will fight for the Moscow-owned Prague government, you are laboring under some strange delusion."

"Why should the people of London and Manchester be bombed to perpetuate the tyranny of the Czechs?"

To Formulate Foreign Policy

By J. F. SANDERSON
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 LONDON (CP Cable)—Creation of an Imperial peace cabinet along the general lines of the Imperial war cabinet to formulate a joint foreign policy for the whole Empire is suggested by "Scrutator," writing in Sunday Times (Independent).

Commenting on the declarations last week of W. M. Hughes, Australian Minister for External Affairs, and R. G. Menzies, Attorney-General for Australia, the writer said a federal union for the Empire with an elective parliament for the whole is out of the question. There must be willing co-operation, leaving the authority of the Dominions unchanged.

(In Melbourne, August 8, Mr. Hughes, wartime prime minister of the Commonwealth, said the Dominions Office is as "obsolete as a handsome cab." If Australia is to have an effective voice in moulding Empire foreign policy, her views must be addressed to the Foreign Office or to the Prime Minister in London.

(In London, the same day, Attorney-General Menzies left for home with the public statement "we should concentrate more and more on the devising not only of the machinery, but of the point of view which will preserve the essential unity of the Imperial structure as a whole.")

"Yes," continues Scrutator, "one could imagine a central Imperial council wherein Dominion representatives might always be present as ambassadors to receive and transmit views on Imperial policy."

An Imperial cabinet would draft a common policy, he suggests, on defence, foreign policy, emigration and trade, all subjects of common interest.

It might be wise, he adds, to meet outside London, at some such place as Windsor or Winchester or "some new political capital separate from the influences of the purely British hierarchy of government" as represented by Whitehall.

Scrutator suggests such a council would be opposed by the Foreign Office, whose monopoly direction of foreign affairs would disappear.

Consultation with the Dominions which is now little more than a request for assent to a decision already reached would be concurrent and before the event. Gains to the cause of peace and democracy by the common direction of Imperial policy might have greater value than it is possible to estimate in advance."

Jobless Totals in Urban Areas Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Marked decreases in the number of persons in urban centres receiving relief were shown in the June figures as compared with June, 1937, more than offsetting the increases in farming communities where last year's drought continued to swell the totals.

The figures, based on the Labor Department's national registration, were released Saturday by Labor Minister Norman Rogers.

Registration figures showed 138,000 fully-employable persons were receiving nonagricultural material aid in June, 1938. This was a decrease of more than 23 per cent from June, 1937, when the number was 181,689. In comparison with the total for May, 1938, a decrease of 9.7 per cent was indicated.

A total of 82,000 farmers (resident farm operators, who, together with their dependents, accounted for a farm population of 368,000 across the country, was reported as receiving agricultural material aid for subsistence. This figure was a decrease of 3.3 per cent from May, 1938, but an increase of over 39 per cent over June, 1937. Of this Dominion total, 321,000 were in Saskatchewan, still reflecting the effects of the drought situation in 1937.

Not Trusting Germany

THERE IS STILL A GOOD DEAL OF speculation in many quarters in Europe as to whether the elaborate preparations now going on for Germany's nation-wide military manoeuvres are merely of a routine nature or an experiment in practical mobilization such as war would require.

Both the British and French press report a measure of "uneasiness" not wholly dispelled by Germany's assurance that she has no immediate aggressive designs on either Czechoslovakia or France. Neither at Downing Street nor at the Quai d'Orsay, however, does the atmosphere seem to be unduly disturbed by this most recent publicizing of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's fighting machine.

There would nevertheless seem to be some evidence of growing uneasiness within Germany itself. Le Journal (Paris) describes the manoeuvres as the principal theme of private conversations, the inference being that the German people, articulate only at their peril, are beginning to wonder what new trials and tribulations are in store for them as the result of Der Fuehrer's persistent state of mind. For outside consumption government spokesmen at Berlin have announced that all the recent apprehension has been generated by journalistic correspondents.

To this charge, Vladimir D'Ormesson, writing in Le Figaro (Paris), said: "The German leaders are in error if they believe the reports regarding the manoeuvres were solely the work of malevolent newspapermen. The reports have been largely due to statements by travelers of many nationalities." Le Figaro's commentator also reminds us that it is no secret in Berlin that Germany will be on a war footing next week, and he recalls interviews between Hitler, Goering and Italian Air Marshal Italo Balbo. "The Nazis said these talks reaffirmed Italo-German solidarity," D'Ormesson wrote. "We believe, however, that Balbo, instead of reaffirming, on behalf of Mussolini, that Italy is ready to support the Reich in whatever adventure it embarks upon, counselled prudence to the German leaders."

While the military "exercises" in Germany are taking place, moreover, another sinister movement is reported by the diplomatic correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, who describes the dispatch from the Reich of storm troops into Czechoslovakia disguised as civilians. He sees in their presence no other purpose than "to initiate, and perhaps organize and control, direct action against the Czech authorities in the event of an open conflict, or perhaps in preparation for such a conflict."

These men compose what is known as the Sudetendeutsche Legionäre Vereinigung, an association made up of Sudeten Germans who have deserted from the Czechoslovakian army and who, for various other reasons, have taken up residence in Germany. This manoeuvre is a copy of the "boring from within" policy, or part of the "new technique" of invasion which worked so smoothly and successfully in Austria.

Czechoslovakia, of course, is not what was once Austria. Her people have a background which records centuries of struggle for independence. For nearly 20 years now they have been enjoying—to the extent which post-war conditions have permitted—the fruits of that struggle. Although the republic is far from full realization of a harmonious nationhood, moreover, it is continually strengthening its resolve to resist the despoiler, and of this her large and powerful neighbor must be aware.

Getting Impatient

IT CAN NEVER BE SAID THAT THE Times (London) is wantonly critical of the Chamberlain government's European "appeasement" policies; but its editorial observations yesterday would seem to suggest that it is getting impatient. The newspaper complains that there is no answer yet from Insurgent General Franco on the non-intervention committee's proposal for the removal of foreign troops from Spain; "nor has the Italian government made any reply to allegations handed to the board of the nonintervention committee and passed on to Rome that more men and arms are reaching Franco from Italy." The Times then drops this explanation in front of "Neville the Peacemaker," as Prime Minister Chamberlain has been curiously named by one of British Columbia's dailies:

"The danger of intensification comes primarily from the activities of Italian and German planes, which operate freely from the Balearic Islands and which can of course fly unopposed between the islands and Italy, pick up some bombs in the Balearic Islands, drop them in Spain and return to their home aerodromes—an altogether novel and wholly undesirable form of making war from a peace-time basis."

The foregoing from the great London daily—officially independent, but with traditionally strong Conservative leanings—cannot by any stretch of the imagination be regarded as a compliment to the good faith of either Italy or Germany. The implication would seem to be that the newspaper in question has no more respect for a dictator's word than had Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, who was virtually offered up as a sacrifice on the altar of "appeasement." His resignation from the British Foreign Office last February was a substantial victory for the heads of the two totalitarian states.

Olympic Games Vs. Bombs

TOKIO'S SUSPENSION OF THE OLYMPIC Games recently has been interpreted as admission of the graveness, to Japan, of the war in China. Suspension came not because contestants were warring against the organizing country, but because that country was so engrossed in a war that it could not afford to devote attention and energies to objects of so little relative importance as the Olympic Games.

The Games have been over some rather rough hurdles before. Since Pierre de Coubertin of France conceived their revival in 1894, their value as a promoter of international understanding has sometimes been questionable. De Coubertin had only the loftiest ideals for the revival of the ancient Greek contests which brought together athletes from all the Greek world. "It is necessary," he said, "that we should preserve in sport those characteristics of nobility and chivalry which have distinguished it in the past, so that it may continue to play the same part in the education of the peoples of today as it played so admirably in the days of ancient Greece."

In the first place, since their revival, the games have been taken too seriously. Sport and seriousness are contradictory terms. The more serious an athletic contest grows, the less sporting it is. The Olympics have always been that way since in 1908 the frenzied partisans of Dorando, Italian Marathoner, picked up his nearly-unconscious form at the stadium entrance where he fell near the finish, and rushed him over the line. Soccer matches and winter sports in recent years have been marred by fights and bickerings, and the whole tone has been smudged by countries which have practically made an international crisis out of who won the hop-skip-and-jump.

However, even as bitter as some of the Olympic competitions have grown in past years, they are a good show, a better show than the bombing of helpless civilians or the shelling of a cathedral. Japan, having asked for the Games, and having been awarded the privilege of being host to them, has now stepped out of the 1940 picture. Finland's gesture in offering a site for the Games and hospitality for the contestants is worth while, if only to show that there are some people in the world who prefer less lethal athletic events to putting the hand-grenade or dropping the 500-pound bomb.

Precision

LANDLUBBERS MAY NOT HAVE realized that when the Queen Mary set up the latest Atlantic crossing record she gave a demonstration of the science of precision that, to say the least, was phenomenal. It is explained this way: Between Bishop's Rock, England, and Ambrose Lightship, about 20 miles off of New York, the Queen Mary made her run on a course of 2,907 miles. Between the two points the crack French liner Normandie chalked up her now defunct record on a course of 2,906 miles.

It is somewhat staggering to the imagination to think of a deviation of one mile in nearly 3,000 miles of ocean. It is almost on a par with a Canadian sharpshooter shooting for the Governor-General's Trophy and hitting a foot and a half from the centre of the target at a mile. So that among our instruments of precision it is made abundantly clear that man is no mean precision instrument himself. Perhaps it is a pity he does not always use his gift for steering ships across the Atlantic and other similar laudable purposes.

Perhaps it would be a better, finer race if the missing link were really missing.

What has become of balances in the old-time government reference, "checks and balances"?

The world's aspect changes, but it has not changed yet the way it is going to change when and if Architect Harvey Corbett's particular dream of mass production of houses comes true. Corbett, architect of the Rockefeller Radio City in New York, says nothing new when he predicts that more and more homes will be built simply by assembling parts turned out in a house factory. But he visualizes prospective owners designing their own houses by working with sets of blocks, putting toy houses together, and sending in the results as orders. The actual houses would be put together in two days, he says.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

From Ottawa Journal

A plank in the Conservative platform calls for completion as a national enterprise of the Trans-Canada Highway.

There are still two gaps in the long trail that leads from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A man bent on seeing Canada from the window of his motor car can set out from Sydney or Halifax and travel Canadian roads until he is brought to a halt on the shore of Lake Superior beyond Sault Ste. Marie. Getting over this gap by shipping his car on a lake carrier, he will find roads through the prairies and well into the mountains. To cover a second gap he must ship his car by train for 100 miles or so, and then the road is open to him to Vancouver and, after a ferry trip, to any part of Vancouver Island.

Perhaps the general desire for completion of this road is based more on sentiment than on practical need, but in a mobile age it is natural that we should want to be able to traverse Canada from east to west on our own wheels and without recourse to ship or train. Completion of the project is but a matter of time, of course, and money.

Bob Davis Reveals

A Number of Enigmas That Complicate Human Progress

NOT AT ANY PERIOD in the history of the world has civilization been so beset with individual and collective stupidity as in the present day. While there is more knowledge within the reach of all, so thinly is it spread that there is less of it per capita.

This is the generation of the half-baked, the era of bogus wisdom, of superficial babbling on the part of both men and women half-cocked in pretense of familiarity with life and what it means. Unsatisfied with reading, writing and arithmetic as a basis upon which to proceed slowly and safely to the higher reaches of education, misguided millions plunge fearlessly into mysterious realms where only the staidest intellects may retain equilibrium. A fearless lot, these explorers, without knowing the use of a compass or where the sun rises and sets.

Given the slightest provocation to unlimber his batteries, the man sitting next to you will open fire with a continuous bombardment aimed at your mode of life, your business standards, your theories on morality, love, marriage, propagation of the species, ethics, religion and whatever minor opinions may have come to you through perusal of the Ten Commandments.

Beware the frail female who looks for all the world like the descendant of the Botticelli angel, or perhaps the gentle author of Mother Hubbard, who swoops suddenly down upon you with a theory for saving the moving picture industry from perdition, the hat check and cigar stand girls and telephone operators from visiting cloak and suit salesmen. These apparently reserved women, who without provocation pounce upon their victims, possessing talons from which there is no escape, can scream like eagles. In this age of frank expressions, under the illusion that womanhood should be heard, no matter who hears her, there appears to be no sanctuary for those who have had an earful of other people's opinions. Of the radio and viragoes, I, for one, have had a sufficiency.

To what extent a comparatively reticent mortal should be called upon to face the unsolicited opinions of the army of bachelor girls who have recently taken over the world's reform is debatable. They are the maids who have been reading Freud, Havelock Ellis and Bertrand Russell, not forgetting periodicals specializing in the facts of life.

Adolescents of both sexes, not yet out of knickerbockers and starched frocks, speaking their minds freely, disdaining control from their elders, and disturbingly well-informed on all themes, are seen and heard everywhere. Concerning manners and deportment which should have been spanked into them at childhood they know absolutely nothing, having escaped the corrective period through the neglect of moronic parents. There is a pronounced upward curve in the wholesale production of brats. This more or less direct statement will offend harshly a number of sensitive mothers and fathers, though their output of ill-mannered, detestable, embryo hoodlums and flappers will infect whole generations.

What civilization needs at the present writing is a long and unbroken spell of quiet, less dissipation among the juveniles and a course in behavior for grown-ups, who carry on day and night a competition with indoor and outdoor acoustics. Lest some doubt prevail as to whom these modest criticisms may apply, let it be understood that no exception is made in favor of any nation except possibly the Eskimo, who sleeps six months of the year and plugs the telephone pending the dawn of another day.

At a meeting of the Dutch Treat Club three years ago, H. G. Wells made the announcement that with 500,000,000 less people on earth, conditions would be better for the present population. While the Englishman made it perfectly plain that he spoke economically, I prefer to believe that somewhere in the recesses of his mind lurked the big and commendable idea that there would be just that many less donkeys braying in the open.

If this be treason, make the most of it.

It is a defendant in a Montreal domestic relations case who comes clean and says he married the girl because he couldn't afford to take her around.

Considerable publicity has surrounded the invention of a lawn mower that runs itself, and now a lot of husbands are wishing they were lawn mowers.

BENCH IS NO PLACE FOR LAW-DEFYING JUDGE

From Toronto Telegram

When a French-Canadian judge flatly refused to follow a decision of the Privy Council in a mixed marriage case which he was hearing, it was suggested that so revolutionary a jurist should be removed from the bench. But Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, has no strong feeling for the Privy Council himself, and the incident was allowed to pass without any official notice being taken of it.

But now the same judge has refused to recognize an act of the Dominion Parliament, and has declared that the highest court of Canada has no power to dissolve by divorce a marriage which has been performed according to his notions of validity. Once again it is suggested that a judge with such revolutionary ideas should not be allowed to linger on the bench.

If the report of Mr. Lapointe's retirement to the Senate is premature, it will be of interest to see what he does in the case of this defiant jurist, or if he does anything at all. In any event, the situation created by these extraordinary decisions is one which will have to be faced by the head of the Department of Justice when Parliament meets again. It is impossible to believe that even a Liberal-Hidden Parliament like the one now in existence will be able to disregard the situation. Surely, some questions will be asked and will have to be answered, and the subject should provide meat for a full-dress debate when the estimates of the Justice Department are before the House.

Future and Freedom

From Manchester Guardian

IT WAS COMMONLY agreed after the war that mankind must create some system of public law and authority which would preserve both peace and freedom in the world. If that effort had been better managed the danger that faces us today would not have arisen. We look back over a sombre history of selfish blunders, but what concerns us now is that the law and stability that the League was to have given us have been upset by a violence that threatens to overrun Europe.

Does it or does it not matter to us whether Hitler gains his purpose? And, if it matters at all, how much does it matter? Before the war there could have been only one answer to that first question. It is the answer given in Mr. Churchill's brilliant speeches. But the fact that each of these speeches is not merely a fine display but a political event shows how far the upper classes have moved from the ideas that used to rule our policy. For a new and blinding fear has come upon them, destroying their judgment and paralyzing their will.

There is the fear of Communism. Fear is notoriously a bad counsellor, and its power lasts even when the reasons that created it have lost their force. In this case the fear of Communism has reconciled the English upper class to the prospect of the complete loss of British power in the world, for Hitler and Mussolini stand in their eyes for the defence of property. A leading churchman explained the other day that he would not quarrel with Hitler for his insolent treatment of the Christian religion because he was so grateful to him for the admirable solution he had found for the problem of social order. This view of Hitler and Mussolini has reconciled the upper classes to the loss of power and prestige in the world and has allowed them to accept insults that in any other age would have provoked an explosion.

It is not the cause but the fact of Hitler's power that matters to us at this moment. Men who will not protect British interests against the dictators are in no mood to protect the liberty of Europe. Indeed, the sympathies that draw them to Hitler and Mussolini determine their whole conception of policy. Somebody, they argue, must give order and stability to Europe, and who will do it better than these strong men with their hatred of Communism? Moreover, if we are polite to them they will leave us alone, and we can settle down to a quiet life on our own estates.

SOMETHING MIGHT be said of the generosity of such a view of policy for a nation that has drawn so much of its vigor, fame and wealth from the world it is now invited to leave to its fate. But if the question is argued on the narrow basis on which these philosophers would put it, surely this conception of a policy rests on false assumptions. What would our position be if Europe was under Hitler's shadow, if this new power dominated the Continent, if France and Belgium moved in its orbit, if no state dared to disregard its will?

At this moment the fear of war has compelled a strong National Government to put up with one insult after another from the Spanish rebels, so that Franco's men seem to drown British sailors at their pleasure just to keep their hands in. With what kind of confidence, then, would we defend our estates in a world where we had no allies or friends against dictators who dispose not of a state or two but of a continent? The arguments of the isolationists are all based on the view that we are still an island and that we are better able, instead of being less able, to stand alone than we have ever been in our history. If the arguments of the isolationists prevail, the place occupied yesterday by the Prime Minister of Austria will be occupied tomorrow by the Prime Minister of France and the day after by the Prime Minister of Great Britain.

RECREATING CHARACTER

By Paul Muni, who played Emile Zola in the films

There's a good deal more to recreating a famous character than pinning whiskers on your chin and putting a pillow under your vest. Makeup plays a big part—research plays a bigger. You have to know how Zola looked before you can bring him to the screen. But you should know also that he set traps on his rooftop for sparrows and broiled them over a gas jet on the end of a curtain rod to keep from starving to death. You must study the man—his habits, his idiosyncrasies, his daily life. You have to feel, that you have known him for a great many years.

THOUGHTLESS CRUELTY

To the Editor:—During the hot weather recently, wandering around the city I noticed in the extreme heat of the afternoon, horses, cows, and goats tethered in a field with absolutely no shade. They just have to endure that terrible heat and nobody cares. I particularly noticed this along Quadra Street between Central Park and Finlayson Avenue.

Another thing I noticed was some chickens in pens after the poultry and vegetable sale at auction, just left there with the high midday and afternoon sun blaring down on them without any protection.

I trust this short reminder will catch the eye of those responsible and jog their memory, and they will remedy it. A thought for the dumb animals and birds is well worthwhile and I'm sure they will appreciate it.

FROM AN ARYAN ACOEN

To the Editor:—It seems as if the straps of the Fascist saddle have loosened a bit and the horse has become restless.

Mussolini's nerves as well as the nerves of his "horse" need a sedative, so where can one get a better drug than a mixture of Aryanism and anti-Semitism prescribed by that brilliant alchemist, friend Hitler?

The trouble was that Benito has bungled up this ludicrous ideology of Aryanism. While Adolf's Aryan is blonde, tall, with blue eyes, Mussolini's Aryan happens to be dark, of low stature and with black, piercing eyes.

There is no honest ethnologist in this mad world of pseudo-scientists that will ascribe these sharply opposite characteristics to the same origin, whatever it is.

M. R. CARLSON,

YOUNGEST SOLDIERS IN WAR

To the Editor:—With regards to recent references to the youngest soldiers in the Great War, the records of my two sons would be hard to beat. Pte. Walter Farrow, born Dec. 10, 1900, enlisted Sept. 1, 1915. He had his 15th birthday at Rockcliffe camp, Ottawa, his 16th birthday in the trenches and his 17th and 18th birthdays in Germany, having been wounded and taken prisoner at Vimy Ridge, while serving with the 75th battalion.

His younger brother, Pte. Thomas Farrow, was born April 9, 1902, enlisted May 21, 1916, and went overseas with the 77th Ottawa battalion. This son stepped out of knee pants to don the khaki uniform. Their dad had already gone over when they went. And they didn't come back to Toronto till September, 1919.

COMMONSENSE SPECULATION

The Trader in Barron's Weekly Some suggestions for avoiding the pitfalls which lie in the path of the unwary investor and speculator:

Disregard short swings for fear of losing a main-trend position. Impatient switching from one stock to another is rarely profitable.

Excited markets should always intensify the decision to act. After a long decline or protracted rise, it is usually the wisest policy to turn quickly with the change of tide.

Never let stocks run over 10 per cent against you. Never put a halo around a favorite stock.

Remember that thousands of other people are pitting their judgment against yours.

PAY DOCKED FOR HALF-HOLIDAY

To the Editor:—May I air the views expressed by the recipients of relief working the morning of August 3, the date decreed as a "civic public half-holiday." When these men received their pay envelopes on Saturday morning, August 6, they found half a day's pay had been deducted. Surely this is shameful, considering it was a civic half-holiday, not a legal holiday.

Foresters End Convention Here

North Vancouver Man Succeeds to Chief Rangship

Delegates from all parts of British Columbia were homeward bound today following the close of the one-day biennial convention of the Columbia District, Ancient Order of Foresters, last night.

The Foresters wound up their business at 10, after an afternoon and night session which saw the election of officers and a lengthy discussion of membership and other problems of the district.

H. McLean, North Vancouver, becomes District Chief Ranger, succeeding Albert H. Down, Victoria, who takes the office of Junior Past District Chief Ranger.

Mr. McLean was District Sub-Chief Ranger for the last two years. He is succeeded in that office by H. Musgrave, Vancouver.

J. W. Wilson, Victoria, and N. Wright, Nanaimo, were re-elected to their respective offices of district treasurer and district secretary.

D. Hargrave, Vancouver, was chosen Juvenile District Chief Ranger, succeeding Mrs. C. Watson, South Wellington.

During the evening the executive had a further meeting with F. M. Coutts, Winnipeg, High Chief Ranger of the Subsidary High Court of Canada, to discuss possible affiliation of the Columbia District with the Canadian court. A report will be prepared by the executive on the subject.

Decision on the location of the next biennial convention was left in the hands of the executive.

Amateur Speaks On Telescopes

A. H. Young Describes Making of Instrument to Astronomical Class

At a well-attended meeting of the weekly class of the annual summer course in astronomy conducted by the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria centre, at the Victoria College last evening, A. H. Young, enthusiastic amateur, described telescope making.

There was a fascination in the making of a telescope with its succession of mechanical, mathematical, and economical problems to be solved, Mr. Young said. He displayed a self-made six-and-a-half inch telescope which he referred to at various times during the course of the lecture. This size telescope was the best for amateur construction. The cost, irrespective of time spent, was between $5 and $6.

A knowledge of small telescopes would help the student to understand the large instrument as, generally speaking, the same fundamentals were common.

The different parts of the instrument were technically discussed, giving helpful details and pointers to intending telescope builders. Mr. Young reminded those present that even the greatest of telescopes could not magnify a star to dimensions large enough to be appreciated by the eye, but they remained just points of light without characteristics, except color and brilliancy.

MOUNTING BIG DIFFICULTY

The mounting of the telescope was the big difficulty for the beginner and it was the item of greatest expense. The work of grinding and polishing the mirror was the most important and exacting.

Young Explorers See City

Eastern College Boys Here After Seven Weeks in British Columbia Wilds; Ideal Country for Exploring, Says Leader

A dozen young men from eastern Canada were welcomed by Premier Pattullo in Victoria yesterday afternoon after they had spent seven weeks in the wilds of British Columbia north of Prince George.

Mostly from Upper Canada College, they formed the first party to come west under the guidance of the newly-formed Schools Exploration Society.

The society is a dream come true for Nicholas Ignatieff, their leader. He envisioned something that would give Canadian youths adventure and excitement, teach them what their country is made of, remove sectional feeling by bringing eastern boys west and taking western boys east. Later this year he will lead a party into the Hudson's Bay region.

In British Columbia, Mr. Ignatieff said, he found a combination of everything that exploring should give a man. "We are not simply a touring party," he said. "Besides learning how to handle horses, boats and the other equipment of a trek, we do mapping and geology, taking notes as we go. That is why British Columbia is so suitable. With magnificent scenery it is hard country to travel and gives experience in all these things."

"The fauna is wonderful. I can think of no more thrilling experience than hunting a mountain goat with a camera. We got some wonderful pictures of moose this time."

The party went by boat to Whitewater at the headwaters of Finlay River, then by pack horse across Finlay Bend to Fishing Lakes, returning by the same route for a total of 900 miles traveled.

Next year Mr. Ignatieff hopes to conduct a party over the trail of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, "overland to the Pacific." As the 150th anniversary of this event will occur in 1943 he plans to take colored movies of the trip and to re-enact some of the memorable scenes from the journey. A portable radio is a piece of equipment he plans to add next year, as a precaution in case of accident.

This year, when the party was 270 miles from Prince George, Graham Robertson, a son of Dr. D. E. Robertson of the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and of the Moose River mine disaster fame, was stricken with acute appendicitis. Fortunately, he said, they were within 18 miles of the police radio station at Finlay Forks, and were able to message for a plane that took young Robertson to hospital at Prince George.

Dr. W. D. Smith of the Sick Children's Hospital, was with the party and performed the operation, later rejoining the trek with Don Robertson, who accompanied his brother to hospital.

Dr. Gordon Shaw, who, with Robert Peters, conducted the observation work on the terrace during the latter part of the class. Mr. Young was thanked by H. Boyd Brydon.

Visiting the class was W. H. White of London University, who gave a brief but entertaining and informative talk on the respective merits of the concave and convex lens type of telescopes, recalling incidents in the historical development of each type. He also referred to the fine 72-inch telescope at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, he said, owed the presence of the observatory here to the support of Dr. J. S. Plaskett, first director of the institution.

ANTI-SUDETEN CHARGES PROBED

PRAHA (CP-Havas) — Czechoslovak police authorities probed new charges of anti-Sudetan terrorism as the pro-Nazi group and other minorities studied a 10-point government program for settling the intricate nationalities dispute.

Two Sudeten Germans appeared at the Podmokly police station, alleging they had been waylaid at the village of Ceski Kamen by 60 Czechoslovak Social Democrats, who pummeled them and pursued them out of town.

The government nationalists proposal, comprised in various bills drafted by the Praha authorities and now being discussed with the minority groups, ruled out territorial autonomy for the German districts, it was disclosed. The Sudeten Germans have insisted predominantly German-speaking districts should be granted a large degree of autonomy.

The plan for a nationalities settlement, outlined by official sources, included enlarged powers for provincial administrations and creation of provincial diets which would be divided into nationality administrative units known as Curia, which would deal with local problems of minority groups.

Short Wave Club

At a meeting of the Victoria Short Wave Club last Saturday evening at the Brentwood home of W. J. V. Wilson, considerable progress was reported on the new clubhouse under construction. Arrangements had been made to proceed with the lathing and the installation of the plumbing.

A. Miller reported that the picnic held recently at Discovery Island had netted a small gain over expenses, which was to be spent on the clubhouse.

Provided that there are at least six entrants by next meeting date, August 27, a hidden transmitter hunt will be conducted early in September. T. C. Brown offered the use of a portable transmitter for this purpose.

The meeting was followed by entertainment by G. Clark, community singing and a marsh-mallow roast.

D. McTaggart, Vancouver, was a guest of the club for the evening.

Was Conservative Member for Nanaimo Up to 1917

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—Francis Henry Shepherd, 82, Conservative member of Parliament for Nanaimo from 1911 to 1917 and prominently identified with the early coal mining in British Columbia, died yesterday at his home here after a brief illness.

Born in Casford, York, England, Mr. Shepherd came to Nanaimo in 1876 and sank the first shaft for coal mining at Nanaimo for an English company. He was for some years chief inspector of mines for British Columbia, and after his Parliamentary term was inspector of dredging at Vancouver until his retirement in 1923.

He married Ann Holden at Victoria in 1879. She survives with a son, Frank, at New Westminster, and three daughters: Mrs. Anderson of Seattle and Mrs. S. G. Parker and Miss Margaret Shepherd of Creston.

Organize for Health Week

Campaign to Emphasize Preventive Medicine for Young Children

Public health forces of Greater Victoria were organized this week to create the machinery required to observe Health Week from September 12 to 17. It was hoped the move would lead to the formation of a Greater Victoria Health League.

An organizing committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, has been formed to carry on the preliminary work leading to the campaign to emphasize the importance of personal and family hygiene along educational lines.

This year particular stress will be laid on disease preventive measures aimed to protect the pre-school age child. One of the objectives will be to create a resistance in the child of tender years to those comparatively mild epidemics to which he is subject.

Included in the campaign will be publicity regarding the value of modern vaccination and inoculation in preventing communicable diseases.

As in previous years, the drive will be featured by newspaper and other publicity, window displays on health subjects, talks to service clubs and other organizations and radio addresses, as well as distribution of health literature.

Members of the organizing committee in addition to Dr. Felton include Dr. J. S. Cull, provincial epidemiologist; Dr. F. Kincaid, provincial tuberculosis officer; Dr. J. Murray Anderson, city school medical inspector; Dr. D. Berman, Saanich medical health officer; Harold Davenport, secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association; Ernest Harris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Miss A. Cressor, superintendent of the Victorian Order of Nurses; H. Butteris, secretary of the Victoria Gryo Club; and Elwood Gropp, assistant sanitary inspector for the city and secretary of the committee.

The meeting was followed by entertainment by G. Clark, community singing and a marsh-mallow roast.

D. McTaggart, Vancouver, was a guest of the club for the evening.

Climb Mt. Robson

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian National Railways officials said today a party of seven climbers in two strings had scaled Mount Robson, 12,972-foot peak that reaches higher than any other in the Canadian Rockies, this week-end.

The party included Fritz Wiesner, well-known New York climber, who led the first rope composed of Chap Cranmer, Dartmouth University student; Miss Christine Reid of Boston, and Elizabeth Knowlton, Springfield, Mass.

The second rope was led by Eric Brooks and included Fred Parkes and Mrs. Brooks, all of Vancouver. Brooks is western vice-president of the Alpine Club of Canada.

The ascent was made on the south face from Kinney Lake in 12 hours. A blizzard slowed the descent, a 13-hour ordeal.

Esquimalt Council Briefs

An offer of $500 of municipal 4 per cent sewer loan bonds, maturing in 1963, at 90, yielding almost 6 per cent, was accepted by the Esquimalt Council last night from C. M. Oliver and Company for sinking fund investment.

Offers of other large blocks of the same bonds at prices ranging from 93 to 96 were tabled for later consideration. Inquiries will be made as to the possibility of obtaining better prices. The council also stood over for later consideration a number of offers of bonds for bank overdraft sinking fund investment. The municipality still has a surplus of $4,280 in the sewer loan sinking fund and $6,120 in the bank overdraft sinking fund for investment.

The fire and lights committee will make a tour of the municipality in the company of Chief H. W. V. Pecknold to see where additional fire hydrants are needed.

A subdivision plan for six lots at the corner of Lampson Street and Esquimalt Road, on the old Pooley property, was approved by the council.

The council received a letter from Harold Husband asking an opportunity to submit a transportation proposal at the time of the expiry of the B.C. Electric franchise in the city. The council decided it would be willing to hear any such proposal.

The council will write to Postmaster G. H. Gardiner suggesting a mail box be placed on the lower part of Lampson Street, at the corner of either Lyall Street or Armit Road.

Liberal Doctors Offer Co-operation

NEW HAVEN — Co-operation of the Committee of Physicians, liberal medical group, has been offered the government in its proposals for the improvement of medical care in so far as these proposals are consonant with the principles and proposals of the committee. This was announced today by Dr. John P. Peters, secretary of the informal committee, as an aftermath of the recent Federal Health Conference.

A large, formal national organization will not be developed, but the committee has voted to continue its existence and activities. More formal organization, it was explained, "would give strength to the impression that this committee is working in direct opposition to the American Medical Association, an impression which is directly contrary to the facts."

The group of liberal physicians will, however, enlarge its numbers and welcome physicians as signatories to its principles and proposals. More than 840 have already signed.

Continuing as a self-appointed, informal group, the committee increased its number to 29 and elected as president Dr. Richard M. Smith of Boston, Mass. New members added to the committee are: Dr. F. T. H. Doubler, Springfield, Mo.; Dr. H. Clifford Loos, Los Angeles, Calif.; Dr. T. Grier Miller, professor of clinical medicine, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Mortimer Warren, Maine

Loring P. Rixford, the San Francisco architect who became known here as the architect of the Union Club building, has been placed first in the competition for the Royal Provincial Jubilee Hospital. The prize plans receive a premium of $1,500.

In spite of the weather being warm in the past month, Dr. G. A. B. Hall, medical officer of health, is able to report a healthy city. Most of the cases of infectious disease continue to come from outside the city limits, despite the extra vigilance since the doctors became responsible for all infectious diseases in the greater Victoria area, he said in his report to the city council.

The monthly report of Comptroller Raymur shows that the month of July closed with an overdraft of $14,883.92 at the bank, the total receipts having been $423,368.65. Debentures sold through the Dominion Securities Corporation totalled $1,172,395.16.

General Hospital, Portland, Me.

Dr. John C. Wilson, Los Angeles, Calif.

Since its organization the committee has expended $1,076. Contributions of $4 from each physician adhering to the group were suggested as means of financing further work.

The report tells of a miscellaneous shower held at the home of J. F. Wratten, 351 Kerr Avenue, in honor of B. Wratten who became a bridegroom last week. The party was tastefully staged, without the help of any ladies, by the joint hosts, G. Wells and F. Wratten.

"On entering the room the future bridegroom was presented with a corsage by J. Shaw," the report says. "The presents were handed out from a bathtub decorated for the occasion by A. Jacobs. Supper was served from a table centred with gladioli. O. Skinner and B. Ball presided at the coffee urn. Cards were played during the evening, A. Jacobs being the winner and J. Skinner winning the consolation prize."

Those present were: J. F. Wratten, G. Wells, O. Skinner, A. Wratten, A. Jacobs, J. Shaw, B. Wratten, E. Pollock, T. Skinner, A. Trace, B. Ball, F. Wratten Jr., L. Harmon, J. Skinner, C. Woolley and F. Bradbury.

More Drinking By Women
Salvation Army Alarmed At Increase In East

TORONTO — Increase in the number of women charged with being drunk is giving concern to two women officers of the Salvation Army who spend six mornings every week in the cells of Toronto City Hall, in the police courts and in the reformatories. Long before 9 o'clock in the morning Captain Esther Perry and Captain Elizabeth Watt are talking with every woman prisoner in the cells, offering advice, obtaining legal help for them and bringing friends to their aid before they are called before a magistrate.

While the Salvation Army has been able to do wonderful things for many women who have yielded to the drink habit, the problem of the repeater is very serious and not easily solved, according to the Salvation Army officers.

Last year the Salvation Army made 6,454 visits to police courts, spoke for 3,163 cases; were handed 2,507 cases by magistrates; conducted 11,591 interviews in court.

Throughout Canada and Newfoundland the Army has 560 centres of operation, officered by 1,500 men and women competent to engage in police court work, to visit and conduct meetings in prison, and to render after-care to discharged prisoners and aid to dependents. The Army maintains over 50 institutions for the after-care of discharged men and women prisoners.

Captain Watt told about a young girl who came to Toronto from a village in eastern Ontario. She was seeking work. It was not long before she was out of funds. She was arrested for vagrancy and appeared in court. The magistrate handed her over to the Salvation Army.

A letter was written to the girl's mother. She replied: "We cannot have her come home. We are poor people. We have a family of 12. We live near a small village and there is no work here for our daughter." So the girl was taken to the Army's receiving home for a few weeks. Then a job was found for her. Last week the mother wrote to the Army expressing her thanks.

Coeds Busy On Wardrobes For Fall

Wrong Outfit Might Put Crimp In College Career

By RUTH COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (CP) — From darning eggs to white umbrellas range the gadgets and clothes assembled today by the city's larger stores to meet the needs of this fall's co-eds.

Several "college bureaus" in the retail marts have staffs augmented by girls from major universities and colleges to advise freshmen on what to buy, for the wrong outfit might put a crimp in a girl's social and classroom career.

Weathers and skirts make the grade in colleges from coast to coast.

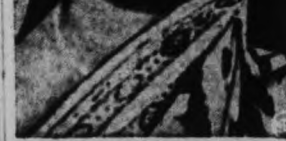

Blouses are in variety and vary from plain flannel shirts to tailored silk numbers. They are worn with jumper dresses.

Three-piece suits or a two-piece suit with a topcoat are in the A class.

The shirt-waist dress is a favored style for the necessary campus wool frocks.

For lounging there is a new flannel outfit of plaid slacks, blouse and beer jacket.

And many college girls, apparently, will wear bows in the hair—tiny ones fastened to bobby pins.

Blaze New Yorkers, ever alert for bright ideas in personal adornment, saw one of the most exotic when the Maharani of Bhaonagar recently arrived at the metropolis wearing, as pictured above, a large diamond set in each side of her nose. She was accompanied by her husband, the Maharajah, and their two sons.

Ceylon's Need

Basking in the sunshine at the Empress Hotel gardens, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Dirker were caught by the cameraman yesterday. Mr. Dirker, who recently moved from Portland to Vancouver to take over his new duties as president of the American Can Co. of British Columbia, in succession to Mr. Ed. Bell is taking part in the Seniors' Northwest Golf Tournament at the Royal Colwood Club.

Weddings

ANFIELD-BARNER

On Monday, August 15, a wedding of exceptional interest was solemnized at 4209 Prince Albert St., Vancouver, the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Barner. Dr. Barner is well known across the Dominion, having been the Superintendent of Indian Missions of the United Church of Canada for many years. Mrs. Barner is known for her work in the W.M.S.

The bride, Miss Maud Barner, R.N., has been the popular superintendent of the Bella Bella Hospital. The bridegroom, Mr. F. Earl Anfield, is the well known principal of St. Michael's Residential School, Alert Bay.

The ceremony took place at high noon, Dr. Barner performing the ceremony, assisted by Rev. W. H. Gibson of Victoria. To the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Mable Royston of Saskatoon, the bride, looking lovely in a gown of navy blue, entered the altar.

After the ceremony luncheon was served; the toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Gibson. The following were among the invited guests: Miss M. G. Royston, Saskatoon; Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Todd, Alert Bay; Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Lett, Lytton, B.C.; Miss H. G. Turner, Alert Bay; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wastell, Telegraph Cove; Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Mr. and Mrs. Anfield left by motor for the south and after September 7 will be at home at the residence at St. Michael's School, Alert Bay.

CARLOS-MASTERS
NANAIMO, B.C. — Miss Georgina Grace Masters, Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masters of England, was married last night to John Osmond Carlos, Port Renfrew, B.C., at St. Paul's Anglican Church. Canon H. V. Hitchcock performed the ceremony.

The couple will tour Vancouver Island on their honeymoon trip before settling at Port Renfrew.

Mrs. J. H. Fletcher Hostess to W.M.S.
An enjoyable afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, Rockland Avenue, Monday, when the W.M.S. of First United Church gathered for their midsummer meeting. The house was beautifully decorated with pink and mauve gladioli in the drawing-rooms and in the hall and den deeper shades of zinnias and other flowers. Baby Royal dahlias and gypsophila were used in the dining-room, with ivory candles.

Mrs. A. S. Christie, Mrs. Kenneth Wright and Mrs. A. Chisholm presided at the tea urns, while Mesdames J. R. Nicolson, F. Bartholomew, John Walker and Norman Whittaker helped serve. The refreshments were conveyed by Mrs. D. Smith and a capable committee. Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Anderson received, and Mrs. A. Chisholm conducted the worship service, after which Mrs. M. McLennan in very appropriate words presented Mrs. J. A. Heritage with a life membership on behalf of the society.

Mrs. George Guy, the Presbyterial president, told of some recent events taking place in foreign lands, giving a vivid picture of what the W.M.S. work means. Mrs. W. H. Wilson added greatly to the program by singing a delightful solo, accompanied by Mrs. George Peaker at the piano.

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, the president, introduced Rev. Dr. McDonald of Edmonton, who gave an interesting talk on the "New North," a part of Canada he is well able to speak upon, having been into the Arctic Circle on two occasions last summer, being a member of the Lord Tweedsmuir party. He described the beauty, immensity, industries, waterways and air travel, as well as water. A vote of thanks to all taking part and hostess was given by Mrs. F. W. Bowles.

Skim Milk Dresses
WASHINGTON (AP) — Fashion experts soon may suggest: "Wear skim milk suits and dresses."

The United States Agriculture Department hinted as much today in an announcement that its scientists have developed a process of making synthetic wool from casein, a by-product of skim milk.

The new fibre, the department said, has a chemical composition similar to wool. It was described as faintly yellow, closely resembling the best grade of thoroughly washed and carded merino wool.

OSLO — Norway has given women equality with men in competition for government posts and they may be diplomats or even priests in the government controlled church.

That ain't shootin', stupid—that's Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES!

SO CRISP they crackle in milk or cream

Children, especially, love Kellogg's Rice Krispies. They eat these tasty, toasted bubbles of rice without ceasing. That tempting "snap-crackle-pop" sound awakens their interest—and their appetites! The only cereal so crisp it crackles in milk or cream! Rice Krispies are ready to serve—light, wholesome, and easily digested. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Pays Tribute To Late King's Memory
Princess Royal Gives Altar Rails At Harewood Church

HAREWOOD, Yorkshire, England (CP) — High tribute to the qualities of the late King George V was paid by the Archbishop of Canterbury at a church service at Harewood at which he dedicated new altar rails.

The rails were presented by the Princess Royal in memory of her father, George V. They were designed by H. S. Goodhart-Rendel, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

Right Rev. Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, singled out three characteristics of the late sovereign—his simplicity, his sense of duty and his religious sense.

The Archbishop recalled a scene during the King's last illness. When he met his Privy Council for the last time, King George tried to sign an order authorizing a council or regency. But he was so weak that the pen faltered in his hand.

Asked if he would not be satisfied to make his mark, he replied: "No, I have always signed with my own hand."

It was a pathetic endeavor to do his accustomed duty to the very last. But he persisted until the task was done.

Leopold Stokowski Back From Europe

NEW YORK (CP) — Leopold Stokowski, director of the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra, returned today from an extended sojourn in Europe, willing to talk about music or the cinema, but not about Greta Garbo.

The musician, when asked about the movie actress whose name has been linked with his in a romantic way, replied: "I never speak of personal affairs."

Stokowski said he would spend a few days in New York, then go to his farm in Connecticut. He will spend the early part of the winter working with Walt Disney on animated films.

Lupe Velez Freed From Weissmuller

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lupe Velez finally got that divorce from Johnny Weissmuller.

She went into superior court yesterday and testified her swimmer-husband of five tempestuous years was sullen, jealous and refused to take her out.

This was the third time she sued for divorce. It was announced in court that the Mexican actress and her husband had effected a property settlement.

In the property settlement, Weissmuller agreed to pay Lupe $200 a week for 156 weeks, except when she is working. She also gets their Beverly Hills home and furniture and Johnny keeps their two boats, a schooner and a speedster.

The picnic which was to have been held at Thetis Lake on Wednesday afternoon by the members of OBYP Association has been indefinitely postponed.

Georgian Tiaras Popular In London

"Doll" Hat Worn At Ballet By Society Woman

By JUNE HAMILTON RHODES
LONDON—At the premiere of the Hindemith Massine Ballet "Nobilissima Visione," by the Ballets Russes de Monte Carlo recently, Drury Lane was sold out. A brilliant and beautifully dressed audience attended. There were many tiaras and many pendant earrings, and old-fashioned Georgian flower sprays in diamonds.

Hair is not up in London. It may possibly be later in the winter. The mannequins of Burton and Upper Grosvenor Street are the only people I have seen so far attempting a high hair-dress.

BALLET DECOR UGLY

The ballet was not very well done. The costumes and stage decor by Tchelitcheff were quite uninspired, and the women's costumes were actually ugly. This gave us time to look the audience over pretty carefully. There is one woman in London who has gone high hat. She sat in a box, wore a very low cut dark crepe evening dress, mid-night blue, and on her head was a doll hat, very slender, with pink wings, at least 18 inches tall. We halted Victor Stiebel, who went out scouting in the entire act, but no one seemed to know who the wearer was. I haven't seen a bird like that since Daisy Fellowes wore a whole pheasant over one eye several seasons ago.

What with Norman Hartnell and John going to Paris with the Queen, I haven't seen them. The Queen's dresses have had great publicity both here and in Paris—bouffant, fur-trimmed, silver lace, paillettes and diamonds. The Queen took the Koh-i-noor diamond set in a small circle of diamonds, which she wore at the state dinners, as a tiara.

$7,500 TIARA

Speaking of tiaras, I saw one today in Phillips which is being made for a young duchess. It is a combination of six sprays of Georgian flower arrangements, roses, buds and leaves, all in diamonds and done so fluidly and so lightly that the petals of flowers tremble and quiver with every movement of the head. Phillips has been two years assembling the different pieces, which are all separate and can be worn separately or ensemble. It costs $7,500, which does not seem much, as the centre of the flowers are sizable stones.

Jewels gleam wherever we turn, and it looks as if this tiara business has come to stay. Every jeweler on Bond Street is showing tiaras. One particularly novel one by Boucheron was a tiara of diamond spikes topped with lapis balls, striking and very handsome.

We saw a collection of topaz and diamonds from the Spanish Crown Jewel collection. It is stunning. Large diamond sprays in pure Georgian manner are shown everywhere.

The sun's color indicates to astronomers and scientists that it is a star on the decline.

WHAT IS NEWS?

Ever watch people reading their newspapers? Some glance at the front page—then turn to the sporting events, the stock market, the births, deaths and marriages.

We all have our tastes. But did you know that advertising interests more people than many editorial features?

It's true. Advertising can be news of great importance—and if it is, people will read it and respond to it.

So, tell the people the news about your products—in the medium in which they are accustomed to look for news of all kinds—the daily newspaper.

Chinese Kind to Three Women Hitch-hikers

MONTREAL (CP)—Montrealers are the most friendly folk they have met, the Chinese the most generous. Mrs. Florence Hayes, hitch-hiking from Vancouver to Halifax with her two daughters, said today.

Only place Mrs. Hayes and her girls, Dorothy, 19, and Kathleen, 18, did not like was Toronto, which they described as "too coldly formal."

A Chinese merchant in Vancouver gave the trio a letter of introduction which has proven a free meal ticket in Chinese restaurants across the Dominion.

Motorists have been gallant. Mrs. Hayes said, and the hikers have had to walk only 25 miles since they left Vancouver June 15. They traveled 400 miles in railway boxcars, including one stretch of 118 miles clinging to the roof of a boxcar in a blinding rainstorm. They were put off trains twice and once threatened with arrest.

The long hike is just a holiday trip, Mrs. Hayes said, but they might write a book on their return to the Pacific Coast. They started out with $10 cash and hope to return with it intact.

To Travel 3,000 Miles To Perform Wedding

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. C. A. Williams, pastor of Howard Park United Church, leaves Toronto tonight for Vancouver after receiving a call from the city 3,000 miles away to officiate at a wedding.

"I have been asked to officiate at the wedding of Col. Victor Spencer's daughter, Louise, on August 24," Dr. Williams said. Dr. Williams was a minister in Vancouver for seven years before leaving there nine years ago.

SOUTHAMPTON (CP)—Cable—Lord and Lady Stanley sailed today in the liner Duchess of Richmond for Quebec, where they are due August 23.

From Quebec the Dominions Secretary and Lady Stanley will go to Ottawa, where Lord Stanley will confer with Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Lord Stanley will open the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto and later visit Winnipeg, Banff Springs, Jasper Park, Montreal, Halifax and Newfoundland.

Mrs. D. A. Robertson of Courtenay is visiting in Victoria with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Penzer, Wellington Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Edwards, who have been spending the last six months in England, are expected back today, and will be the guests of Mrs. W. E. Skett, 1722 Lee Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Easton of Mexico City, D.F., who have been on holiday in Victoria and Vancouver for the last two months, left Sunday afternoon on their return journey, intending to spend the next month in California.

The many friends of Joyce Morrish, Action Street, will be pleased to hear she is recovering from a broken ankle. It will be remembered that Joyce with her team mate, Enid Middleton, won the Women's Canadian Club Rose Bowl at the recent festival.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Clyde will be "at home" to their friends on Saturday afternoon from 3 until 6 at the home of Mr. Clyde's sister, Mrs. E. Middleton, 432 George Road, the occasion being the 60th anniversary of their wedding. They were married at Westminster, B.C., by Rev. Thomas Derrick, and have one son, Dr. Paul H. Clyde, professor of Duke University, North Carolina. They also have two grandchildren.

Missing Woman Safe
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A young woman lost in the primitive Utah mountains wandered into a loggers' camp early today, tired and frightened but uninjured, after several hours of hiking through animal-infested timberland.

The lost hiker, 23-year-old Bernice Norville of Salt Lake City, disappeared late Sunday attempting to make her way to a parked automobile.

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON—Queen Emma was regent of Holland for eight years.

Followed as ruler by her only child, the present Wilhelmina.

To be followed some day by Princess Beatrix (unless this four-month-old baby has a brother.)

Truly a woman-ruled country, unexampled in European history! But the Dutch do not feel that their nation is "hen-pecked." They like it. To prove they like it they are completing plans for a series of great celebrations next September. They will all be in honor of Queen Wilhelmina, now 58, who was crowned when she came of age on September 6, 1898.

40 YEARS QUEEN
So she is completing 40 successful years as sovereign of the thrifty, sturdy, independent Dutch. While always keenly observant of her royal dignity and proud of herself as scion of the historic House of Orange, she has nevertheless, managed to endear herself to her rather democratic people.

She shared with them their anxieties during the World War, when the little country was in a ticklish position with battling nations all around. She saw prosperity come to the nation from its great East Indian empire.

With heavy heart, she witnessed Holland getting its share of the trade depression and unemployment which swept the world. Today the outlook is brighter and the Dutch are preparing wholeheartedly to show their Queen how much and how well they think of her.

Holland has two capitals. Amsterdam is the constitutional one, but The Hague is the seat of the royal court, the States General and the High Courts. The Hague, Rotterdam and Utrecht will all have celebrations, but the metropolis of Amsterdam will be the scene of the greatest arranged program.

BIG CELEBRATIONS
On September 5, Queen Wilhelmina will make her formal state

entry into the city, whose beautiful old houses, fronting on wide canals, will lend themselves admirably, not only to flag decorations by day, but to illuminations and fireworks at night, which will be reflected in those same waterways with which the metropolis is criss-crossed.

On September 6, the actual day of her 40th anniversary as crowned Queen, there will be a great religious service in the ancient cathedral, picturesquely called the New Church. This faces on the historic Dam Square where she was proclaimed Queen. Hendrik Collip, the Prime Minister, will deliver an address of congratulation on behalf of the nation. In the afternoon there will be a mass demonstration in the Dam Square, delegations coming from all parts of the country to participate.

In the evening a torch relay race of young men and boys from 300 towns and villages in Holland will end at the Dam where, in front of the royal palace, a huge bonfire will be kept burning for a week.

On September 10 Amsterdam will witness a great historical procession with costumed men and women to illustrate the long, crowded and often dramatic history of Holland.

As annexes to the main celebration program, so to speak, there will be an exhibition devoted to showing the development and history of Amsterdam during Queen Wilhelmina's reign and another showing the development of the diamond trade, which is still centred in Amsterdam.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newberry, who will be "at home" to their friends on Friday from 7 until 10 p.m., at 1270 Rudin Street, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. They were married at Christ Church, Dorchester, England, by Rev. C. S. Sanctuary. They have lived in Victoria for over thirty years. They have two children living in Victoria, Mr. George Newberry, Grant Street and Mrs. Bert Fisher, Cameron Street. One son died in the Great War. They also have two grandchildren in England and five in Victoria.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it vulgar to be extravagant?

2. Is it good taste to overwork a favorite phrase such as "But definitely?"

3. Should a mature woman speak of her contemporaries as "girls?"

4. Is it correct for a woman to speak of her husband as "Mr. Jones" when she is speaking to the young daughter of a friend?

5. Should she call him "Richard" when speaking to a casual friend who does not call him by his first name?

What would you do if—
A friend asks how you think she looks in her new hat and you think her taste is atrocious—

(a) Say, "How did you ever let the saleswoman talk you into buying it?"

(b) Evade the issue by commenting on the color or material or some point which you can really admire?

(c) Tell her you like it, since it is too late to affect her purchasing it?

ANSWERS
1. Not unless it is ostentatious.
2. No. Be original with your phrases and then don't overwork them!
3. No, as "women."

4. No, nor to any social equal, no matter what age.
5. Yes.

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(b) or (c). Expressing frank opinion while shopping is a different matter.

Aztec Zoo Story Only "Yellow Journalism"

WASHINGTON — Montezuma, lord of the Aztecs in Mexico, didn't have any fine zoo for his entertainment. That was just a yellow journalism story perpetrated back in 1884.

So the Bureau of American Ethnology here declares, on bringing to light a seventeen century yellow journalism named Antonio de Solis, who wrote a book on the Mexican conquest without bothering much about facts.

Solis got his zoo story by combining and embroidering records, says the Bureau ethnologists.

Diaz, soldier of Cortez, had described a collection of birds, rattlesnakes and animals kept at the Aztec capital, presumably for sacrifice. Hakluyt, the historian, described discovery of American bison. Solis scrambled these facts and made Montezuma a glamorous figure in zoo history, as the collector of a wonderful exhibit of rare beasts.

Under the agreement Charlie Ting, owner of the establishment, has the right to appear before the city council and show reason why his licence should not be canceled. Next regular council meeting will be tonight and another will not be held until September 12.

The cancellation notice warned Ting that continued operation of his restaurant "will result in prosecution."

Some Water Below Zero Mark Not Ice

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON — A scientist described water today as a strange chemical combination which can stay liquid at temperatures far below its freezing point or freeze at temperatures several degrees above.

Dr. Ernest Dorsey of Stand ards said he had cooled water to six degrees below zero without having it turn into ice. This is 38 degrees below its "standard" freezing point.

Other investigators have found, he added, that under some air conditions ice forms on the wings of an airplane in flight, even though the temperature is several degrees above freezing.

Water from different lakes and streams has varying freezing points, Dr. Dorsey explained, because of differences in the amounts of plant material and other chemicals dissolved or suspended in it. No two samples will turn into ice at precisely the same temperature.

Other scientists recently have created ice which flows like water and ice which is so hard that it will scratch steel.

Machinery In Mines Opposed

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—United Mine Workers District 26 convention was asked today to give assent to a resolution opposing electrical cutting and loading machinery in coal mines.

The resolution differs from that which miners have been debating for several days in that it excepts smaller mainland mines where use of electrical machinery has been established. It is aimed chiefly at operation of new labor-saving devices in larger Dominion Coal Company pits.

Charlie Gillies of Glace Bay, N.S., explained the resolution on electrification was designed to seek the enactment of legislation which would make use of electrical machinery at the coal face impossible.

Fire Department To Be Reorganized

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver City Council yesterday approved appointment of a special 12-man, semi-official committee to probe the possibility of fire department reorganization and improvement of fire fighting methods in Vancouver.

The committee was recommended by Mayor George Miller after a conference with representatives of the British Columbia Fire Underwriters.

Mayor Miller said the various organizations invited to be represented on the committee would be asked to name their delegates at once in order that the committee might start its investigation shortly.

The committee, according to Mayor Miller's suggestion, would inquire into the advisability of reorganizing the personnel of the fire department, the possibilities of obtaining a fire boat for harbor duty and of establishing a modern firefighting school.

The mayor suggested appointment of the committee to include representatives of the City Council, fire underwriters and other public bodies. He had no definite statements concerning the fire department personnel.

The committee could investigate and recommend on what reorganization, if any, would be required in the personnel of the fire department.

Chinese Employ White Girls in Contravention of Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP)—City Licence Inspector H. Q. Urquhart yesterday ordered immediate cancellation of the trade licence of C. K. Chop Suey Parlor because of alleged continued employment of three white girls as waitresses in the Chinese establishment.

Police said employment of the girls was in contravention to an agreement reached last September between Mayor George C. Miller and operators of Chinatown restaurants.

Under the agreement Charlie Ting, owner of the establishment, has the right to appear before the city council and show reason why his licence should not be canceled. Next regular council meeting will be tonight and another will not be held until September 12.

The cancellation notice warned Ting that continued operation of his restaurant "will result in prosecution."

Fair to Feature Sex Chemistry

Hormones Discoveries Before Public for First Time

SAN FRANCISCO — A son or daughter as desired — artificial impregnation — sex rejuvenation — sterility cured — masculine women and feminine men made normal! All this and more will be dramatically unfolded in an educational display of the chemistry of sex to be shown in the Hall of Science at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition in San Francisco.

The recent and revolutionary discoveries in which the isolation of both the natural sex hormones and the synthetic, laboratory manufactured hormones play the leading part, will be exhibited for the first time to the public.

The exhibit is being undertaken solely to develop an intelligent public appreciation of what hormones can do, so that the public will co-operate with trained physicians in their scientific use. A graphic display will show how synthetic sex hormones are manufactured much as a house is built from a blueprint. A chemical analysis of the natural sex hormone is used as a basis. These synthetic hormones are so potent that few crystals or the fraction of a drop is sufficient to treat more than 100 people.

How highly active and tremendously valuable in modern medicine are these hormones may be seen at a glance in their practical application. First of all they have been used successfully in the treatment of sexual sterility in both men and women. They have aided materially in the prevention of abnormal miscarriages. They have been used successfully in making fecund both sexes in apparent cases of sterility.

Most revolutionary, of course, is the part the hormones play in sex determination. Beginning shortly after conception, test injections of hormones have resulted in the birth of male or female young as desired.

Another outstanding gift to humanity which modern study on sex hormones has given is the dramatic relief of such sex irregularities as femininity in men and masculinity in women.

In addition to the two male sex hormones and the many females hormones known to science, two other types of hormones will also be shown as parts of his astounding educational display. One is cortin, the substance which prevents the dreaded Addison's disease, and is used much as is insulin in the case of diabetes. Cortin is obtained from the adrenal gland. The second type will be the pituitary gland hormones, which are involved in sex, in diabetes, growth, and many of body regulatory functions.

The most sensational display of its kind ever offered to the public, this exhibit will be a new and vitally significant step in the modern liberal trend of sex education.

Police said employment of the girls was in contravention to an agreement reached last September between Mayor George C. Miller and operators of Chinatown restaurants.

Under the agreement Charlie Ting, owner of the establishment, has the right to appear before the city council and show reason why his licence should not be canceled. Next regular council meeting will be tonight and another will not be held until September 12.

Claims Wagner Act Challenge

No Effective Similar Legislation in Canada, Convention Told

LAKE CHOUCHICHING, Ont. (CP)—The National Labor Relations Act of the United States is a challenge to Canadians because they have "no effective piece of similar legislation," according to Philip G. Phillips of Cincinnati.

"The Wagner Act is a decent sort of statute for a country to have," the regional director of the National Labor Relations Board said in an address to the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics here. "If it's not presumptuous for a visitor to say so, it is indeed that here in Canada a man may be discharged for his union activity."

Mr. Phillips discussed methods on settling labor disputes before the conference on educationists, businessmen and students. Strikes and lockouts were "detestable, vicious and brutal means" of achieving ends, he said. Legislation in almost every case was turned into an "anti-labor enactment."

"The only way labor's ends can be achieved is by making laborers and capitalists sit down together to iron out their troubles and achieve economic democracy," he said.

"The purpose of the act is to help labor gain its end fairly, decently and with full attention to what the employee wants and the public needs."

"More than 90 per cent of our cases are settled by conciliation. Through our court of appeal which lays down a general policy and operates 21 regional offices throughout the country, we place the employer and employees together in an office and make them bargain. In nearly every case of deciding whether or not a man is 'dismissed for union activities' the employer takes back the dismissed worker with back pay without making an appeal."

"In the United States we are passing through a period now in which the courts give us no breaks at all. You won't have the same trouble in Canada because your courts are constituted differently."

Japan Yields More Than Soviet

LONDON (CP Hava)—The cessation of hostilities, which, during the last few days had been growing in intensity, does not mean the dispute between Russia and Japan is settled, said The Times, London, editorially, commenting on the truce on the Siberian border.

"Both sides, as is not unusual in the Far East, claim to have won. As, however, both sides hold the frontier they are fighting for, their rival claims are not easy to interpret in terms of success or failure."

"But the impression prevails that Japan has climbed down farther and faster than Russia. Whatever the final outcome of her tilting match with Russia, its immediate results can only be adverse for Japan."

GREENWOOD HAS NO WAR FEARS

Treasurer of British Conservatives to Pay Visit Here

VANCOUVER (CP)—Viscount Greenwood of Holbourne, native of Withby, Ont., and treasurer of the British Conservative party, said today he had no fears of European war in the near future because of Britain's rearmament program and the leadership of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Describing Mr. Chamberlain as "one of Britain's greatest Prime Ministers, Lord Greenwood credited him with easing European tension and added "the crisis in Europe is past."

Viscount Greenwood said he would visit Victoria in a few days and return to eastern Canada before the end of the week. Accompanying him are his wife, Hon. Eric Greenwood, his son, and Hon. Deborah Greenwood, his daughter.

RAIL MYSTERY IS INVESTIGATED

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mystery surrounding the attempted derailling of the Canadian National Railways campers' special near Sioux Lookout, Ont., last Friday night, deepened today as investigation proceedings opened here.

Ontario authorities said a former Winnipeg resident would be brought here for questioning.

Mike Spavyn flagged the train Friday as it approached a spot where spikes pinning the rails to ties had been removed.

MAGISTRATE OF EDMONTON FIRED

EDMONTON (CP)—Magistrate A. H. Gibson of the Edmonton Police Court was notified yesterday by the Alberta Attorney-General's department that he has been dismissed.

Premier Aberhart said the order-in-council dismissing Magistrate Gibson, appointed August 1, 1933, had not been signed yet, but refused further comment.

Mr. Gibson will be succeeded by Magistrate A. I. Millar of Sedgewick, senior magistrate in the province.

CLAIM GROUND IS DESECRATED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver exhibition officials Saturday decided to move a ticket sale booth from Victory Square in downtown Vancouver after indignantly ex-service men threatened to tear it down on the grounds it was a "desecration" of a spot dedicated to Canada's war dead.

Work on the stand was well on the way to completion when Alderman J. W. Cornett asked exhibition officials to change the location of the booth to an up-town corner.

Alderman Cornett said many private citizens were equally indignant at the erection of the ticket booth near the Cenotaph in the square.

Capt. T. M. Harnett, member of the Canadian Legion, who protested to Alderman Cornett and Chief Constable W. W. Foster, Dominion president of the Legion, said some of the ex-service men expressed the intention of removing the stand themselves if authorities did not act.

HARVEST VARIES ON PRAIRIES

REGINA (CP)—Progress of harvesting operations varies widely in different parts of Saskatchewan, according to a crop report issued today by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Wheat cutting is practically finished in some light crop areas, while at other points it is only just commencing. The greatest progress has been made in the eastern portion of the province where an average of about 55 to 60 per cent is completed.

In south central, south western, central and northwestern districts the amount ranges from 30 to 35 per cent, while in west central Saskatchewan warmer weather is required to bring the crop to maturity and only 10 per cent of the wheat cutting is completed.

Throughout the province about 40 to 45 per cent of the wheat and 35 to 40 per cent of the coarse grains have been cut.

A further decline is noted in crop prospects in most areas, through rust and grasshoppers. In many cases farmers are cutting crops on the green side to save them from further loss. Lack of sufficient subsoil moisture has caused deterioration at some points.

Practically no threshing has been done, but anticipated yields indicate the extreme variation that exists in crop conditions not only in different districts but between different fields in the same area.

The best crops are in the Regina area; the east central and extreme northeastern districts and on the heavier land in west central Saskatchewan. Crops are extremely poor in the extreme southeastern portion of the province and over much of the southwestern and northwestern districts and on the lighter land in central Saskatchewan.

Pioneer Westerner Dies

EDMONTON (CP)—Pioneer westerner who trekked to the Yukon from Edmonton in the rush of '98, Sidney D. Cooper, 65, widely-known livestock dealer, died here Saturday after a long illness.

Attracted by the Klondike strike, he outfitted in Edmonton and successfully made the hazardous overland trek with J. D. Ross, a now chief engineer for the power division of the public works administration in Seattle.

Zero weather is a rarity in southeastern Alaska.

N.S. Miners Join With C.C.F.

Woodsworth Says C.I.O. Also Wants to Link With Canadian Party

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—Delegates to the United Mine Workers' District 26 convention voted yesterday to affiliate the district with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation for political action.

The resolution calls for a convention in the near future to elect a permanent representative and "for consolidating the different groups into one united front for political action."

To finance the new move, a levy of one cent a month will be placed on each member of the U.M.W. The union has about 12,000 members in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, the great majority in the former province.

The union will seek to bring other labor groups into its political fold.

WOODSWORTH DELIGHTED

COMOX—Apprised of the decision of District 26, U.M.W. at Truro to affiliate with the C.C.F. party, J. S. Woodsworth, national leader of the C.C.F., here on a two weeks' holiday, said:

"The Committee of Industrial Organization also wants to affiliate with us. We are willing to accept anybody who will come in on our basis. With strongholds in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia, the C.C.F. movement will take on added life. Cape Breton sentiment is very strong for the co-operative movement and we believe a real democracy can be brought about by an organization that embraces politics, the co-operative movement and adult education. The C.C.F. does that."

Coal Royalties End in Britain

Editor's Note:—Some call it nationalism. Some call it socialism. Others call it unification. Regardless of what it is, Great Britain's legislative houses have voted to pay 5,000 landowners £66,000,000 ($330,000,000) to place the nation's coal mines in the hands of the government. The story behind this interesting action, with an explanation of the provisions of the law, is given in the following article.

By WALTER M. HARRISON
Associated Press Correspondent

LONDON—Coal royalties, sniped at by Labor for half a century as the major cause of the miner's troubles, are at last on the way out. Great Britain.

Four years from now Britain's huge supply will be nationalized or "unified" as a result of the final passage of the government's Coal Bill after months of debate and compromise between the House of Commons and the House of Lords.

The government is going to pay £66,000,000 ($330,000,000) to take the coal land out of the hands of the 5,000 rich landowners and estates which have inherited it to administer it for the benefit of all the people of the British Isles.

Three main purposes of the measures are:

1. Government purchase of privately-owned royalties.
2. Voluntary and compulsory amalgamation of collieries.
3. Protection of consumers.

INDUSTRY IN DOLDRUMS

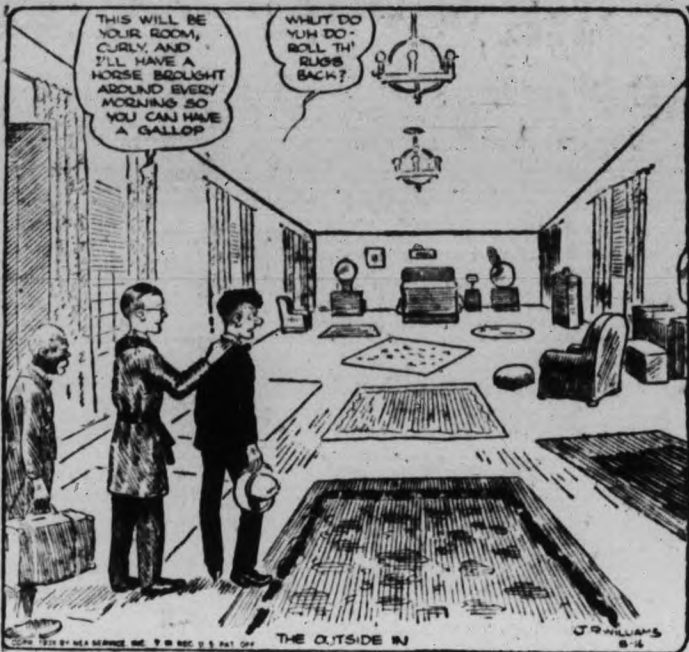

Britain's coal business has been in the doldrums since the Great War, when the export market disappeared. The average number of coal miners is 739,000 and the average annual production is 750,000,000 long tons. Thousands of coal workers went on relief before 1920 and by 1936 conditions in the business were so desperate they led to the disastrous general strike.

The present government pledged solution of the coal problem as a part of the program of 1935. Prime Minister Chamberlain nursed the complicated measure carefully through Parliament for the last year.

Dormant lettuce seed will germinate much more freely if it is treated chemically before planting, the Department of Agriculture has discovered.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am an attractive girl, 24 years old, who is tired of being good. I have always been good and what have I got for it? I have tramped the streets looking for a job with no success because I refused to be "nice" to the boss. My clothes are dowdy. The soles of my shoes worn thin. I don't have enough to eat. I am sure there is some man who will gladly give me clothes, money and food. Why shouldn't I take it? I am young. I want some fun and life is so short. Don't you think that I should take what I can from it? Life owes me something besides starvation and misery.

NELL.

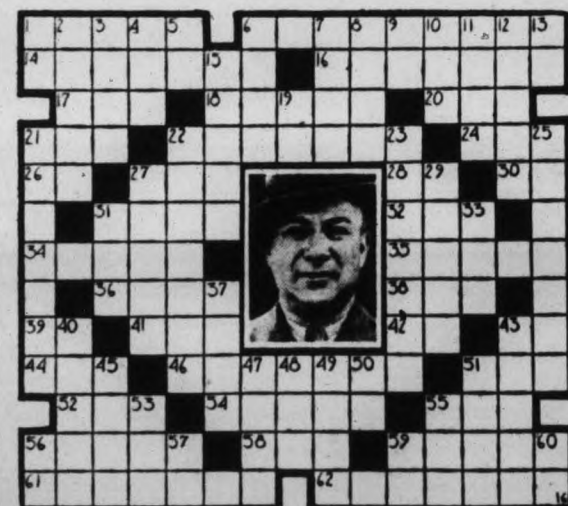

Answer: "You are falling into the error that so many girls make of believing that vice is always gilded and that the downward path is paved with gold. You think that the price of virtue is fine clothes and furs, jewels and feasting, and that if you sold yourself for these you would walk in silk attire and silver have to spare, like the heroine of the old song.

If this were true, and if every girl who threw her cap over the windmill did so at the instigation of a millionaire playboy or a Sugar Daddy, one could hardly blame a poor girl for taking the easiest way to get the good things of life. For to resist the temptation to exchange shabbiness for Paris confections; walking for automobiles; delicatessen sandwiches for rich food; hard work for lazy loafing would require more strength of character and higher principles than the average young woman possesses.

But it is only in novels and the movies that wickedness is always glittering and gay, and every Lothario a spendthrift billionaire, and every girl who goes astray swaps her shabby but honest raiment for sables and diamonds. In real life vice is sordid and unprofitable. Most of the Don Juans have pocketbooks as thin as their morals. They can't support themselves in comfort, to say nothing of a Lady Love. And so the girls who think it pays to be bad find out that Mrs. Warren's profession, as Shaw called it, is a poor trade for a girl to follow.

Most business men divorce their work and their gallantries. They have to concentrate so completely on their jobs that they have no time nor thought for love-making. In business hours the only lady they are chasing is the one on the dollar.

This should be a fairly fortunate day in planetary direction, according to astrology.
Merchants and manufacturers are subject to stimulating influences. Access of confidence in a temporary return of prosperity is likely in certain industries.
The stars seem to smile upon the men and women who rule the destinies of others. Persons who hold positions in the sun should benefit today.

Good news affecting the nation is presaged, but there may be an effort to mislead or deceive American diplomats and statesmen.

The signs for many weeks have indicated the unexpected in international developments which will have far-reaching effects.

Conditions in Jerusalem, where conflicts between men of varying religious faiths have caused bloodshed, will not improve next month. Secret help from outside sources may be received by the Arabs, who will cause continued trouble.

Because an epidemic is foretold for the autumn, astrologers emphasize the importance of care in diet and avoidance of extreme fatigue.

Death of a national leader who will succumb to the effects of summer weather is prognosticated. Many changes are foretold.

Devise New Microscope

Electron Principle
Used to Disclose
Invisible Objects

BERLIN (AP)—A hitherto invisible world is revealed in a supermicroscope that uses electrons instead of light rays and magnifies 100,000 times. It is a new instrument built by two young German scientists, Dr. Ernst Ruska and Bodo von Borries.

The supermicroscope is one of the first practical applications of a recently-discovered scientific principle that electrons smallest particles of matter, reflect from what they strike, just like light.

They are invisible. They have to be focussed by mechanical lenses as there is no eye to do so. They have to be converted finally into visible light. This new electron microscope does.

The instrument is steel, about five feet high. Its interior is a vacuum. Its exterior has various glass windows for peering inside. In place of a light it uses a beam of electrons. These are produced in the top of the tube, by a 100,000-volt cathode ray tube. Cathode ray means a stream of electrons.

The object to be magnified is placed inside the vacuum, where the electrons can fall upon it. Those reflected are picked up by coils of electric wire. The electrons pass through the cylinders of these coils just as light passes through a lens.

FORM IMAGE

Like light in a lens, the electrons are focused by the electrical field of the coils. They form an image of the object from which they reflect.

This image, however, is invisible. It is converted into ordinary light by letting the electrons strike a flat glass plate coated with chemicals. The chemicals fluoresce, and this fluorescent light shows exactly the pattern made by the electrons.

It is like looking at the glass screen of a present-day television receiver.

The instrument was designed for use in medicine and biology. This is the first reported use of electron microscopes to study living tissues. The inventors hope it will reveal the viruses, cause of human diseases and of crop destruction, which cannot be seen in microscopes.

Tells of Japanese Invasion of China

Dr. W. J. Sipprell
Presents Unexplored
Factors in China War

"China has always been in need of reconstruction and unification, and the western countries are the only ones with the ability to do this; it will have to come sooner or later," said Dr. W. J. Sipprell at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis at the Empress Hotel today.

Dr. Sipprell took as his lecture subject, "Some Unexplored Factors of the Sino-Japanese Question."

Japan, he said, had the idea that she was defending her nationalism against the rise of Communism in China, and this was rightly so.

The speaker said that in his visits to Japan he had not seen any sign of struggle and discontent that the press had so frequently reported. There was a friendly atmosphere in the land.

Inasmuch as the unexplored factors were concerned, the speaker said that time would permit only a few of these, although there were many. The first factor was the superiority complex of the Japanese people.

This arose from the fact that the people were constantly taught and reminded that their was the only divine land, they had the only divine emperor and they were the only divine people.

Japan believed it was her business to stabilize Asia and that it was her duty to save China from the western powers.

C. Elwood Watkins was in the chair.

Suggest Corps Of Foresters

Philadelphia Educationist
Witnessed Whole of
Up-island Blaze

The establishment of a corps of foresters in British Columbia to give "honorable employment" to thousands of young Canadians and at the same time to protect the province's forest resources from depletion by erratic logging and fire is suggested by a United States visitor who was in Forbes Landing during the disastrous up-island fire.

Gordon Palmer, Philadelphia educationist; Mrs. Palmer and their three children, Gordon, Robert and Janet, all of high school age, have come to Vancouver Island for six summer holidays.

They went through the thick of the up-island forest blaze, the first they had ever seen.

"I do hope something can be done by the government to maintain these wonderful forests that you have and the waterways," said Mr. Palmer at the Dominion Hotel this morning.

"If you are going to have logging it seems to me that you should insist on the same amount of clearing as they do in Europe. I was in north Europe last year, and it seems they have a wonderful lesson for us. They have a system that permits the cutting of so many acres in certain places each year, so that there are always areas of growth at different stages side by side.

"In that way they guard their watersheds and their timber. "If there had been no slash left under the trees in the Campbell River area the fire would probably have done little or no damage except to burn off the ferns and kill some of the wild life."

Mr. Palmer says Vancouver Island is the finest spot he knows for rest and recreation. He intends to return again in five years' time, and hopes eventually to buy a summer place here.

Mr. Palmer kept his movie camera, loaded with color film, turning almost continuously throughout the days he was in the thick of the fire. He has not yet had the film developed.

Junior College Plan Supported

May Mean Revamping
of University System
in British Columbia

Initiation of the junior college plan in Victoria as the beginning of a revamping of the university system in British Columbia which would eliminate the need for those beginning their university training to go to one centre, is seen by educationists who favor the proposal.

A junior college in Victoria is regarded as the logical remedy for the present overcrowding at the university. Not only could it be done cheaply, but the fact of getting younger college students away from a large centre would be better from an educational standpoint, say educationists.

Later, as population warrants it, junior colleges might be set up in Kamloops, Penticton or Nelson, it is stated. In the meantime one year of senior matriculation can be taught in the high schools there, thus relieving a certain amount of pressure on the university.

"The junior college is bound to come eventually," one prominent educationist told the Times today.

"It may be some time before the general public sees the particular benefit of this system, but it has been tried in many other places and found best."

It would lead, finally, to the establishment of a three-year university course instead of four years as at present. Only those who intended to go through with their university training would reach the larger institution. Many students now drop out after their first or second year, particularly those taking arts courses. They would complete their schooling at junior college.

The proposal for a Victoria Junior College is to enlarge the present Victoria College by using the Provincial Normal School building and transferring all Normal students to Vancouver where teacher training would be centred.

At comparatively small costs, the normal building, with the present college building, could be converted to house 600 or 700 first and second-year art students, it is claimed.

This would provide accommodation for all such students from Victoria, Vancouver Island and interior points. Students from Greater Vancouver and the Fraser Valley necessarily would stay at the university near their homes.

Support for the proposal is expected in official circles which are at present wrestling with the demand of the university for additional buildings to accommodate the new freshman crop. The university board has limited the new enrolments to 450 this year, thus shutting off several score from receiving higher education.

Courage, lacking the discretion of years, cost a young cougar its life at Cherry Creek, near Alberni, Sunday. Instead of running from dogs like its elders would the cougar kitten stalked a small dog in the garden of Fred Duffy and Mr. Duffy, who was awakened by the noisy battle that ensued, saw the cougar carrying off the dog. A well-aimed piece of wood caused the cougar to free the dog and another caused it to scurry to the woods. The next day Tom Moore tracked the young cougar and killed it.

Paddle-wheeler Tries Out On Selkirk Waters

Boys Build Own Power Craft

Ingenious Victoria West Youths Also Construct Swimming Pools

They seem to raise a lot of ingenious boys in Victoria West. First it was 12-year-old Roy Fitchett and his practical home-made kerosene-can diving equipment, and now there is a group of youths, all around 17 years of age, with a novel paddle-wheel raft powered with a Model T engine.

The craft is moored in Bond's Bay, situated in Selkirk Waters, which, incidentally, have been cleaned up and improved in many ways by this same group of boys, for the district's swimming enthusiasts.

The idea for the power raft was supplied by 17-year-old Dick Clarke, the engine by Wally Randall and all the boys pitched in to build it. The others include Eddie Brown, Norm Loudour, Norm Edmonds, Pat Graham and Bill King. The construction took about a month.

Smaller pieces of lumber were gathered around the inner harbor and the raft itself was constructed.

Considerable figuring had to be done to get the engine aboard. A slip was finally built to the water's edge, where the raft was moored, and the old Model T was slid into place and bolted.

Next came the paddle construction. There are two wheels with three paddles apiece, made from two-by-six boards. These are fastened to the back axle on both sides. The rear end is blocked so that it is out of the water. The boys forgot about the water kick-up from the paddles and are now working on a set of guards to cover the wheels.

The figure that about five miles an hour is about all they can get out of the craft. They plan to take their friends for rides around the harbor and up to the Gorge.

Besides working on the paddle-wheel raft, they have spent considerable time in improving and advertising Bond's Bay for swimming.

Steps have been built in the clay bank to the beach and seats and tables have been set up. Signs have been placed at different places pointing to the beach.

The boys' pride and joy is a large well-constructed raft with two spring-diving boards, which took two weeks to build. They have also replaced a high-diving board on the bank with one of their own liking. Three large logs were fastened together and moored in the shallow waters, making an enclosure for the children to swim in, but had been cut adrift by "some poor sport."

They hope to find time to fix this up again soon. The boys have also built steps from a steep part of the rocky bank into the water so that those who do not dive can go swimming anyway.

Chinese Drown In Wreck Off Woosung

SHANGHAI (AP)—More than 100 Chinese passengers were drowned today when the small Chinese coastal steamer Hansa sank after a collision with the British steamship Tungwo off Woosung.

The Tungwo reported she picked up only 13 Chinese survivors. The British vessel Scarab sent the message that she had saved the Hansa's German captain after a long struggle in rough water.

The Hansa regularly transported passengers and chickens between Shanghai and Yangtze estuary points. Normally Chinese owned and operated, she was taken over by Germans at the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese war.

HIS TON CANDLE BURNS FOR CARUSO

Antonio Ajello, Who Created Ceremonial Taper Known World Over, Dies

NEW YORK—Antonio Ajello, master candlemaker whose sweet-scented tapers, made from a secret family formula, have gone around the world, is dead at his home in the Bronx here. He was 78 years old.

For more than 50 years, Mr. Ajello had presented elaborate samples of his art to such personages as Mussolini, the present Pope, General Pershing, the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, Marie of Roumania, Colonel Lindbergh, to four American Presidents and to a host of actors and singers, many of them his own Italian stock.

Mr. Ajello's masterpiece was the memorial candle molded for Enrico Caruso by public subscription in 1921. This torch, which took six months to make, weighed a ton and was 18 feet high. Burning for 24 hours every All-Souls Day, in the church in Italy where it stands, Mr. Ajello calculated that it would last for 1,800 years.

Born near Sorrento, Italy, Mr. Ajello was one of a family which for 165 years had made ceremonial candles, raising its own bees for the wax and working on a secret formula which scented the material with the perfume of flowers.

He came here with his father when he was 12 years old and later established his own factory, first in Long Island City.

Surviving are his widow, three sons, associated with him in the business, and six daughters.

Dominion Shows Big City Life

"Little Tough Guy" Portrays Lives of Children on Streets

Vividly revealing the life, laughter and tragedy which thrills in the hearts of young people of the streets of a big city, Universal's gripping story of modern youth, "Little Tough Guy," opens today at the Dominion Theatre, featuring the "Dead End" kids with Helen Parrish, Robert Wilcox, Jackie Searl and Marjorie Main.

One point definitely impressed on the minds of first nighters was that the "Dead End" kids are a unique group of actors, and without peers in portraying the realistic phases of youth which stab through the heart.

Roosevelts Arrive Home

President's Youngest Son and His Bride Reach
Boston From Bermuda

BOSTON — John and Anne Roosevelt, North America's most famous honeymooners, came home yesterday, John to begin a business career in the advertising department of a Boston department store and Anne to settle her home in suburban Brookline.

Their highly-publicized wedding trip to Bermuda officially ended at 8 yesterday morning, when they shook hands with Captain N. J. Roach on the bridge of the Canadian National steamship Lady Drake, thanking him for a fine trip from Bermuda.

The honeymooners were greeted at quarantine by a score of newspapermen and photographers and at the pier by the bride's mother, Mrs. F. Haven Clark, who on June 18 saw her daughter, Anne, married in one of the largest weddings of the year. Sally Clarke, singing dancing sister of Anne, whose own engagement was announced Sunday, also went aboard the Lady Drake to greet her sister and to exhibit her engagement ring to her brother-in-law.

A number of Canadian National steamship officials were on hand to greet the Roosevelts, including Victor E. Eke of Montreal, passenger traffic manager, and J. D. Paul, New England passenger agent. Mr. Eke was personally thanked by Mr. Roosevelt for what the President's son declared to be "the finest trip either of us have ever taken." The Roosevelts sailed to Bermuda from Montreal on the Lady Somers last month.

The Consolidated Paper Corporation is still hopeful some pulp may be done with the pulpwood resources on the island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. A $1,500,000 spent on rehabilitating the equipment and installing new machinery would give employment to 3,000 or 4,000 men, it is estimated.

Seven Die In U.S. Planes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Disaster struck twice among the United States navy's war planes in routine manoeuvres, leaving five fliers dead and four injured today.

Attempting a landing after dark last night, a patrol bomber smashed nose first into San Diego Bay, carrying two of a crew of six to their deaths.

The four survivors, all injured, were pulled from the water as the wreckage sank.

Ten hours earlier, a speedy torpedo plane plunged earthward from an altitude of 3,000 feet over Camp Kearney Mesa. Its three crewmen perished.

Death, however, spared six men in another patrol bomber, which was damaged in a forced landing on the bay last night. The fliers emerged unhurt. Both bombers had been practicing night landings.

One of the bomber's dead was H. Boeckman, 23, but identification of the second victim was lacking.

Fatalities in the torpedo plane crash on land were: Mike Frank Mosciello, aviation machinist's mate; Don Fay Smith, radio man; and Ralph Thomas Carter, aviation chief ordnance man.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two army planes from Kelly Field collided 1,500 feet in the air near Dilley, Tex., yesterday, hurtling two cadet pilots to their deaths.

One of them, Edward Delaney Willard, 22, of Modesto, Calif., rode the cockpit of his crippled craft when it crashed to the ground and burst into flames. He was burned almost beyond recognition. The other, Cadet Robert Kemper Whitehouse, 21, of Evanston, Ill., zoomed his craft to 3,000 feet after the crash, although part of his tail was torn away, then jumped; but plummeted to death when his parachute did not open.

An investigation showed the rip-cord had not been pulled.

"Slums of Seas" Are Condemned

London Health Officer
Reports on Conditions of Some English Ships

LONDON (CP) — "Slums of the Seas" — unsanitary, ill-fitted coastal vessels — are condemned in the report of the medical officer of health for the Port of London.

The report, based on investigations of J. S. Beattie, inspector of the middle river district, claims men have been found who work as much as 120 hours a week, drink strong tea when they are too tired to cook food and commonly suffer digestive troubles.

"In small ships," the report says, "there are no messrooms, no wash places, no clothes lockers, no drying rooms, no oilskin lockers."

"The seaman hangs his working clothes on the bulkhead, his oilskins on the wooden partition, his shore suit on his own bunk rail, his washing on a line by the bogie stove to dry."

Inspector Beattie held the stove to blame for most of the dirt on small vessels, because the coal bunker was seldom adequate or leak-proof, so that dust was trampled all over quarters below decks.

In a cramped compartment beneath the forecastle head "seamen sleep, eat, wash, bath, and in wet weather do their laundry and take such recreation as their hours on duty permit."

He said there was seldom proper storage space for food which was kept in boxes, alleyways, wash places, under bunks, in spare bunks, in lifeboats. He had even found it in water closet compartments.

SCHOONER SAFE

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — The schooner Arbutus hove her bedraggled nose into port at Grand Cayman yesterday, after her delayed arrival from Tampa, Fla., had given rise to fears she had been lost in a tropical hurricane which swept the West Indies late last week. The storm damaged her slightly.

The little vessel carried a crew of eight and four women passengers. She had a cargo of lumber for Grand Cayman, west of here in the Caribbean Sea.

ORDER CRAFT SOLD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Justice Archer Martin in Admiralty Court yesterday ordered sale of a boat owned by Fraser Tugboat Company to satisfy five claims against it.

Following were the judgments: Hoffer Limited, $844 for a first mortgage; Stanley Russell Hall, $1,971 for other mortgages; James Orpana, master, $175 for wages; E. Seal, engineer, $140 for wages, and Standard Oil Company Limited, $342.

Around the Docks

Ss. Princess Victoria arrived in the Harbor early this afternoon carrying 950 excursionists from Vancouver. Many of them were visitors in the mainland city from various points in the prairie provinces and for a large number of them it was their first trip on salt water for a number of years. So, of course, the five-hour voyage through the islands of the Gulf of Georgia had its quota of thrills.

More than 1,000 persons from the prairies reached Vancouver yesterday morning over Canadian National lines. The Continental Limited operated in two sections to accommodate the large number of travelers.

The trim new British motorship Lady Glanely is today loading 400,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom. She will proceed this evening to Port Alberni to complete. Capt. A. H. Huggins is in command. Three months ago Lady Glanely was on this range but did not call at Victoria.

Yugoslavian freighter Carica Milica, Capt. M. Miljevic, is also at Ogden Point today, loading 400,000 feet of lumber for United Kingdom.

King Brothers, who are handling both ships, expect Ss. Thistleglen here on Thursday and Ss. Boulderpool on August 23.

Fresh from annual summer overhaul in drydock at Esquimalt, Ss. Empress of Japan will sail from Victoria late Saturday afternoon for the Hawaiian Islands and the Orient. She will take out 500 passengers.

SEATTLE, Ms. Cleveland, formerly the Italian liner Feltrina, arrived here last night from Alaska with 546 cannery workers and 235,000 cases of canned salmon from Bristol Bay. Capt. Emil Jackson, veteran mariner of the B.C. and Alaska coasts, was in command.

As the Feltrina, the Cleveland sank some years ago in the Columbia River and was raised by Ss. Salvage King of Victoria, B.C. Later she was brought here and converted into the most modern cannery ship afloat for the Pacific American Fisheries. Her conversion was done at the Todd plant and was one of the biggest jobs in years.

Large Opium Seizure Made

Greatest Anywhere in World in 10 Years Made on Brooklyn Waterfront

NEW YORK (AP) — The largest single shipment of illicit opium in more than a decade was found today suspended on a line in 40-feet of water off a Brooklyn pier.

Elmer L. Irey, United States treasury department enforcement co-ordinator, said in Washington 1,700 five-ounce tins were seized. A tin is equivalent to about one and one-third ounces. Treasury officials said the seizure was worth about $600,000.

A customs patrol boat returning from duty along the narrows early yesterday, noticed a launch moving into the pier. When squad leader Will R. Walker, in command, started to investigate, a man jumped overboard from the launch and climbed the bulkhead of the pier. Tied to the launch was a line, on the end of which, in oil-soaked burlap, were the tins of opium.

The opium was carefully protected, not only by the covering, but by large waterproof cans, inside of which were the smaller tins.

Irey said in Washington the launch belonged to Frank R. McCann of Brooklyn, who was taken into custody for questioning.

The treasury said the seizure was the "largest made any place in the world within 10 years."

Wheat, Weak At Start, Firms Up Motors, Steels Lead Slow Motion Rally

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg wheat prices showed a firm trend most of the session today after a weak opening. A firm Chicago market and the United States acreage reduction plan were strong influences in the general upswing.

Quotations at the close were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, October at 68 1/2, November 68 1/2, December 67 1/2 to 67 3/4, and May 70 to 70 1/4 cents.

Trading showed life for the first time in several sessions although generally the session was not active.

Export business was estimated at more than 300,000 bushels mostly new crop wheat. Some hedging pressure appeared in the early session but covering which accompanied the uptrend absorbed it.

Liverpool was 1/4 to 1/2 lower at the close. Buenos Aires was 1/4 to 1/2 cents down.

Cash wheat demand was slow and spreads on top grades off. Springs and durums were mostly unchanged.

Pit trade in coarse grains continued dull with some export interest in rye providing the highlight. Operations were routine.
